CIRCUIT THEATRE TO PRESENT MELODRAMA

Old Time Thriller to Be First Play; Organization May Be Disbanded

The North Shore Circuit theatre has elected to produce as its first showing of the season 'Nellie, the Beautiful Cloak Model.' Here is the old time "meller drammer" par excellence a play in which every thrill ever known to theatredom is sure to be included.

The north shore will see "Nellie" just as one might have seen it in its heyday about 1880 when a travelling company came to the old "oprey house" in the small town, or even in the big city, to be faced by an excited populace which positively jumped at every thrill that came across the gas footlights.

The Play

As regards the play itself: A short and decidedly naive explanation apprises the audience that Nellie is the true heir to a vast fortune, actually the largest in New York City. Cruel fate has stolen her when a babe from the arms of her mother, the rich Mrs. Horton, who now searches for her in vain. Nellie's cousin, the despicable Walter Horton, fearing that he will inherit none of the vast fortune should Nellie be found, contrives a series of stupendous episodes to put lovely Nellie out of the way. The villain stops at nothing, ultimately blowing up the Brooklyn Bridge to gain his end, which dastardly act, will be presented with utmost fidelity on the north shore stages of the Circuit theatre.

The characters and settings of 1880 and thereabouts have been carefully (Continued on page 19)

Associated Builders of Lake Co. in Meeting

The Associated Builders of Lake county, the membership of which includes several of Highland Park's and Lake Forest's leading contractors, as well as many from other cities in the county, held their monthly meeting Thursday evening of last week at the Green Tea Pot, Highland Park. A fine dinner was served, and the ladies were guests of the association. The principal features of the program was an address by Oscar Rosenthal, president of the State Association of Builders, who gave an interesting talk on present and prospective conditions in the building industry. The meeting was in charge of President Peterson of Waukegan and was a very interesting and successful session.
