TULIP PLANTING . ME. The month of October is the best time for planting tulips. They must have time to stool out and produce their root system in the Fall, before it actually freezes up. For that same reason tulips planted from six to eight inches deep are more apt to live and thrive from year to year than those planted shallow.

MULCHING TULIPS. Any kind of litter or finely rotted manure is all right for mulching tulips, but should be removed at the first heavy rainfall that thaws out the ground in the Spring.

WINTER KILLING OF TULIPS. Holland suffered a greater loss this year from the winter killing of tulips, than it has for several years past. The reason was, no doubt, that the Hollanders have from time to time, been planting their tulips more shallow each year on account of digging. A tulip harvests much easier when planted shallow, as they dig their tulips with their hands. This fact indicates that they have a very light, fluffy soil.
