

Outstanding Features at Alcyon Next Week

"The Sap from Syracuse," "Grumpy," "Romance," and "Anybody's Woman," are the features selected for showing at the Alcyon theatre during the next week. "The Sap from Syracuse," Jack Oakies second starring vehicle, with Ginger Rogers, will be shown this Saturday. A special feature for the popular children matinee, is the opening of the first all talking serial "The Indians Are Coming."

Fun and thrills for young and old alike are furnished by Cyril Maude in "Grumpy," Sunday's feature attraction. The celebrated international star created the title role of "Grumpy" in 1913 and has since played the part 1300 times on the stage. It is an apt combination of romance, comedy and melodrama. Above all it is a comedy, with the other ingredients "Romance" Greta Garbo's worthy successor to Anna Christie will be shown Tuesday and Wednesday for adult audiences only. As the heroine of the celebrated Edward Sheldon drama which is laid in a setting of New York of 1865, Miss Garbo gives her usual superb performance. Lewis Stone and Gavin Gordon take the leading male parts in this production.

Ruth Chatterton, the First Lady of the Screen, admittedly the most effective, the most popular dramatic actress in talking pictures and Clive Brook, aristocratic, urbane, debonair to his finger tips, an actor of ability and sincerity, have been reunited as the leading actors in next Thursday and Friday's attraction "Anybody's Woman." Based on Governor Morris' story "The Better Wife". The supporting cast includes such names as Paul Lucas, Huntley Gordon and Virginia Hammond. Selected short subjects are added to the features of every performance.
