Highland Park Public Library

Your Library and How to Use It
"The three-fold function of the public library — to educate, to furnish mental recreation, to inspire."

Books for All

Your library has something of value for all who can read. Every resident of Highland Park is cordially invited to become a registered borrower. Tell your friends.

Who May Borrow Books?

Anyone living in Highland Park or who is employed, attends school or pays taxes on city property may borrow books free. This privilege has never been refused to those of our neighbors who are without other library facilities.

How Many Books May Be Taken?

Adult card holders may borrow any reasonable number of books at one time. The only limit is on new fiction titles lent for seven days only.

How Long May They Be Kept?

Most books may be kept for two weeks, and if necessary, may be renewed once only for a like period. Certain new and popular books are not renewable, and current periodicals may be kept seven days only.

Books Not in the Library

Our neighboring libraries are willing to lend us books which we may not have and which we may find difficult to obtain.

Purchase of Books Welcome

When such books are bought for the library, the person making the recommendation is notified.

Why Are Fines Charged?

The purpose of fines is to bring books back to the library promptly when the time of loan has expired, so that others may not be deprived of their use. The liberal time limit of loan enables anyone to read and return a book without the payment of fines, if the date of expiration of the loan plainly stamped inside of the front cover, is watched.

May Books Be Reserved?

Any book in use by another borrower may be reserved on the payment of small fee to cover the cost of notification by postal card when the book is available. The reserve fee is one cent for the postal card.

Main Library Departments

The circulation department contains books which may be borrowed by adults for home use. The children's department contains a carefully selected collection of books for children, both for lending and reference. Children up to the eighth grade in school are registered as borrowers in this department.

The reference department contains books for use in the library building only. These include indexes to printed material of all kinds, files of magazines, clippings, maps, encyclopedias, year books, the local bound newspaper, and other works containing authoritative information on all subjects.

Service By Telephone

The reference department is glad to answer any question, the answer to which is readily found in print, over the telephone. Time may be saved by those planning to make extended use of books in this department by telephoning in advance just what is wanted, so that the books may be collected and made ready for use. Telephone H. P. 312.

How to Find a Book

Books in all departments are arranged on the shelves according to the Dewey Decimal, classification which is by subject. All books are listed in the card catalogue. The location of particular books or subjects and the use of the catalogue will be explained by any library assistant.

If you cannot find what you want, ask one of the library staff to help you.

Personal Service

In addition to helping library patrons find the books they want and recommending books in which they would be interested, the circulation department is always glad to prepare special lists for study on particular subjects.

When Is the Library Open?

The library is open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily except Sunday. The children's room is open from 3 to 6 p.m. daily and on Saturday from 9 to 12 a.m. and 1 to 6 p.m.

Why It Is Your Library

The library is supported by the City of Highland Park and maintained by an annual appropriation made by the city council. Every citizen of Highland Park contributes to its support directly or indirectly through taxation $1.27 per year, or little more than the cost of a pair of tickets to one good movie. Many citizens also make it a practice to give books, pictures or other material to the library from time to time. Such gifts are always acceptable and serve as a permanent memorial to the donor.
