The president of the school board district, 107, Mr. Howell Murray, analyzed the situation facing that body. From the start it was found necessary to borrow in anticipation, since the state legislature does not make adequate provision for the diverse educational needs of the rapidly ex-

Junior Workshop Plays to Be Given Dec. 2

"The Stranger" by Gertrude E. Williams, and "A Favor With a Lady" by Guernsey LePelley will be presented by the Junior Workshop of Ravinia, on Tuesday evening, December 2nd, at 8:15, in the Music Room of the Ravinia school. These plays will be the first sample of the work being done by this recently organized group, and will be given in a most informal manner.

The entire Junior Workshop is connected with this production, those taking parts in the plays being Mrs. Roy Jacobus, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Rider, Vincent Erb, Miss Katherine Buhner, Arthur Haven, Guernsey LePelley, Miss Gertrude Williams, Royal Arch Gunnison, and James Vollee. Miss Mary Louise McClerman, Roy Jacobus, and Miss Louise Gehr are assisting with the production, and Miss Williams and the Messrs. LePelley and Gunnison are doing the directing. Mrs. James Cady Ewell of Ravinia has been assisting the players.

"The Stranger" has its setting in Yellowstone National Park, and shows a vivid picture of the life of young college students who work in the lodges in the park during the summer. "A Favor With a Lady" is light comedy, and grows around a very unusual favor asked by a pretty girl of a budding young author in the lobby of a small middle-western hotel.

The group represents varied amateur theatrical experience, the most unusual perhaps being a former member of the Seattle Repertory Playhouse, and the Washington Players; this is Mr. Gunnison.

The Junior Workshop wishes to make clear that these are not finished productions, and they will call for criticism and discussion at the end of each play. Anyone who is interested is urged to attend.

The battle Turkey day will be at Evanston at the high school field.
