CIRCUIT THEATRE TO OPEN HERE DEC. 5TH

from those who plan to take advantage of the saving effected by this means of securing season tickets to the play. In opening its Decennial Anniversary with an unusual and hilarious revival, the Circuit theatre is demonstrating to those who enjoy its plays that for this year it plans a repertory to make the season outstanding. "Nellie, the Beautiful Cloak Model" will provide an excellent evening's entertainment, and the management reminds its friends in Highland Park that its performances are always open to anybody.

Plans to Carry On

The North Shore Circuit theatre, having made definite announcement that its decennial anniversary will be carried through, has progressed far in the production of its first of the four plays of the year, and is now able to make definite announcement of the dates and the locations of the performances. "Nellie, the Beautiful Cloak Model," is the play with which the year will be opened. It is an old-time melodrama, dating back to 1880, of the same sort as those with which the Christopher Morley group made so striking a success recently in Hoboken.

Dates in Shore Towns

"Nellie, the Beautiful Cloak Model"

will open in Highland Park on Friday, Dec. 5. The second performance will be in Lake Forest, on the following evening. Tuesday, Dec. 9, will find the show in Wilmette, and the regular Evanston performance on Wednesday will carry through this season as it has in the past. Thursday is an open date on the book, and the Circuit theatre very gladly offers its play on that evening to any organization which will plan, through the sale of tickets to an extra performance, to assist in any charitable cause whatsoever. For such a purpose, the play will be supplied complete in every detail for the exact amount of the production charges for one night.

On Friday, Dec. 12, "Nellie" will be presented in Glencoe. The tour will close on Saturday, with the Winnetka performance in the Skokie school. As a matter of economy for this season the number of performances of each play has been cut from a minimum of eight to six, the omissions being one night each in Evanston and Winnetka.

Subscriptions Payable

Subscriptions to the Circuit theatre are now payable, and are being called in by the business manager. Season tickets will be mailed to subscribers immediately on payment of their dues, and it is hoped, because of the nearness of the play, that there will be a quick response to the requests for remittance. Each subscriber is entitled, as in the past, to two seats to each of the four productions, good, however at any performance of the year.
