ADDRESS AT FUNERAL OF JOHN ROBERTSON

Talk by Rev. Frank Fitt at Services Nov. 19 for Beloved Ravinia Resident

Following is the address of the Rev. Frank Fitt at the funeral services for John Robertson, at Highland Park Presbyterian church, Nov. 9, 1930. Mr. Robertson was greatly beloved by everybody in Ravinia, and his friends will appreciate the publication of this talk by Mr. Fitt, it is believed. The address:

John Robertson

Born, Sanffshire, Scotland, June 21, 1844. Son of James Robertson and Elizabeth Dawson Robertson. Came to Chicago in 1870. Married Christina Mitchell in Chicago. Four children: William, who died in infancy, David Allan Robertson, Elizabeth Wells Robertson, John Bright Robertson. Four grandchildren: David, Betty, John, Jane. Lived in Chicago on west side until coming to Ravinia six years ago. Former member Third Presbyterian church.

It was about six years ago that I met Mr. Robertson. After long residence in Chicago he had built this home in Ravinia and soon after his arrival, true to his family tradition and his own convictions, he identified himself with the local parish, transferring his letter of membership from the Third Presbyterian church, Chicago, in April, 1926. It was my privilege, therefore, to know him from his eighthieth to his eighty-sixth year. Even at that advanced age, a time of life which so few attain, he carried within himself the central phases of his personality in such a rich and glowing sense that for all of us who became his friends in this new environment he remains a most memorable figure.

Tracing out the meaning of Mr. Robertson's friendship in my own life I find three distinct impressions.

First of all he possessed a rare and fragrant sweetness of disposition. In him there was nothing of the querulousness usually associated with advanced age. On my visits to his home, on occasions when his physical limitations permitted him to attend church, and at other times when I saw him he always reflected a warmth and friendliness that bespoke his trust in life as an experience in which kindness and charity should be the guiding signs. He had nothing of the demanding and the hurrying about him. His outlook was serene and one could always be sure of his smile and his welcome. Even when the last weeks of his life brought increasing evidence of physical infirmity there was no complaint. To the last the even balance of his nature, the outcome of his confidence in life's invisible values, it was his gift to possess.

Somewhat akin to this, and yet quite distinctly independent of it, was a very definite resiliency of spirit. Just before coming to live in Ravinia he had known the great sorrow of losing the partner who had been with him for 49 years. He and she were looking forward to the new home; but he entered it without her. Coming at such a period in life that loss is almost shattering. It left its mark upon him; but he went forward with and thought in Ravinia; but there ings. and California and found something dren, their work, their progress, their rewarding in these ventures. He contribution to life. We exchanged reference, an expression of disap- enthusiasms of those younger than vacationing in distant places or when pointment that she could not share he and never lost his hold upon the I happened to be away from home. the joys of the new creation of love expanding interests of his surround- More than once I had the joy of courage. There was an occasional watched his flowers and shared the letters when he was on his winter writing him a letter of congratulawas no sense of defeat and the out- Then, too, he had great pride of tion when a member of his family look was always forward. At 80 family. In that he ran true to his had received recognition for worthy most of us are not ready to change Scottish inheritance. Home was the achievement. I knew the happiness our abode and form new friendships sacred place, the nurturing ground that was in his heart. And as the and enter new circles. He was; and of virtue and power where the endur- closing years sped by he received the did so with zest and interest and en- ing values find their source. To his richest blessing that anyone can rejoyment. In the winter months he home he gave unceasingly of his best ceive, the devotion of those who had traveled on long journeys to Texas and found his happiness in his chil- known him as a father who had never failed them and whom they would (Continued on page 39) > t's a General Electric. The Refrigerator with the money-saving Monitor Top-What a glorious gift for a woman to receive—and how very easy now for a man to give.

he General Electric Company has made it easy for you to make this Christmas the merriest of all. You can give her a General Electric Refrigerator so easily that your pocketbook will scarcely feel it. With our easy time payment plan, a few dollars in cash-a very few dollars-will deliver one on Christmas Eve, so that the ice cubes will be frozen when she looks in the trays in the morning.

Three hundred and sixty-five days a year this glistening white refrigerator will ease the burden of her daily tasks-simplifying her marketing problems.

So utterly dependable is the mechanism of the Monitor Top, that the cost of operation is but a few cents a day.

A gift of beauty, of luxury, of convenience, usefulness, economy-what a glorious gift for a woman to receive! What an ideal gift for you to select as an expression of true regard! You may purchase on easy time payments.

Join us in the General Electric Program, broadcast every Saturday evening on a nation-wide N. B. C. network.

GENERAL & ELECTRIC ALL-STEEL REFRIGERATOR

VIC. J. KILLIAN, Inc.

19 North Sheridan Road

Telephone H. P. 3800