Any woman is delighted with something for her table

Whether she merely lifts an eyebrow to two butlers and a couple of serving maids . . . or whether she does it all herself, with the help of a trusty tea wagon—any woman takes pride in her table and likes table decorations for a Christmas present.

We can show you lovely bowls for center decoration . . . candlesticks . . . compotes . . . plateau arrangements that are different. We have scores of little imported animals to run the length of the board, as your fancy suggests. We've just unpacked some very novel little place card holders. In other words—this is the place to come for all that's newest and smartest in things for the table, decorative objects or the china and crystal this name stands for. The price range is very wide. You can really pay what you start out to.
