In Memoriam

Scouting of north shore regrets the loss from their movement, their friend and brother Scout Charles E. Tyson Jr. of Troop 30 Elm Place school, Highland Park who passed away last week. Charles was a real scout. At Camp Makajawin this last summer he was chosen as one of the outstanding campers in his troop, and was elected into the Camp Honor Brotherhood, the Order of the Arrow, because of the fine way he had lived the scout oath and law in camp. He was a first class scout with Merit badges in swimming, life saving, and canoeing. He has been a faithful scout in his troop since Jan. 15, 1929.

TROOP 35 HOLDS COURT OF HONOR

At the weekly meeting of Troop 35 last Friday night, Dec. 12, we held a Court of Honor. "Happy" Wampler, Bob Walker, Alden Harris, Dade Einstein, Jack Venning, Bob Zahn, Steven Buhner, James Hirsch, Lew Sarrett, Bob Ross, Bob Long, and John Henry Epstein were awarded their tenderfoot rank. Art Baldauf was awarded his second class rank and Charles Zahn his first class. One new scout joined our troop at this meeting. He is Orlando Viverico, who was transferred from another city.

After the Court of Honor was held the scouts who had not passed their second class signaling were instructed in the semaphore code and were told to be prepared to pass the test at the next meeting.

Mr. Walker, our scoutmaster, Mr. Copp, assistant scoutmaster, and 26 fellows were present at the meeting. We closed with the scout benediction and taps.—Scribe Art Baldauf, Troop 35, Ravinia school.

Panther Patrol News

The Panther patrol held its regular meeting at the home of Bobby Walker. After all the fellows arrived we opened the meeting with the scout oath and law. After that we went outside to have some drilling. Each fellow took turns in leading the patrol in an O'Grady drill. We then had the scout benediction.—Scribe Charles Zahn, Troop 35, Ravinia school.

TROOP 48 TAKES HIKE

Saturday, Dec. 6, some of the scouts of Troop 48 met at Mr. Gartley's house at 9 a.m. Those who went were Mr. Gartley, Waino Newman, Fred Schroder, Ernest Gilroy, San Falconer, Frank Perkarik, Roy Cedarstrand, and Jack Neale.

From Mr. Gartley's house we went to the public beach and walked along the lake shore. Some of the boys soon began to lag behind. I was one of them, some of the time about 500 feet behind. When we came to Fort Sheridan some of the boys found

Michael O'Flaherty

Scoutmaster Michael O'Flaherty of 1122 Prairie avenue, Highwood has been scoutmaster of Troop 36 at the St. James Catholic parish for one year this month, previous to that he had been assistant scoutmaster of the same troop. He has taken the approved 12 meeting training course for scout leaders last year and is now attending the standard course in scoutmastership for advance training. This summer he visited Camp Makajawan where his boys were staying for two weeks. This troop was one of the first to complete 1931 scout re-registration subscribing 100 per cent to the Boys Life magazine.

empty bullet shells. We walked out on one of the piers. It sure was ccc-rrr-eee-ppp-yy on the slippery ice. Sometimes some of the boys threw rocks at pieces of ice. We hiked to Highland Park where we cooked our dinner and played "Capture the Flag." About 2:30 or 3:00 o'clock we left for home and arrived about 4 o'clock.—Jack Neale, Troop 48, Lake Forest.

1ST CLASS SCOUT CONDUCTS MEETING

Troop 46 of Lake Forest had a splendid meeting last Friday night, although their scoutmaster, Harold F. Sweeney, was unable to attend.

Milo Winter, a first class scout, took charge of the program for the entire evening. We started the meeting at 7:30 and continued until 9:30.

Our song leader, Gordon Kelly, was absent, but Bob Dobbins led the meeting in the usual singing. Then some of the boys went through a few second class requirements while the rest of the scouts studied their's, hoping

Scout Executive's Column

A business man, well known for his accomplishments, made these comments recently on what he thought are some of the benefits of scouting.

He said in effect if not in these exact words, "The boys now in scouting will later on take their places in organizations in the business world and in various social and religious organizations in their community. It is of great value for anyone early in life to learn to function in a cooperative manner with others in the social group. To make success in life and achieve happiness everyone must sooner or later learn to "get along" with other people, even though they may not in all cases like the other people with whom they come in intimate contact. In my opinion active membership in a scout troop gives this training unusually well, and helps to prepare a boy for success later on."

to have them perfect by the next meeting.

After the test passing we played a few games, among which were "Baste the Beetle," and "Sockball."

There was perfect order all during the meeting and the boys were glad that Milo would have a good report to give Mr. Sweeney.—Scout Robert Anderson, Troop 46, Lake Forest Presbyterian church.

NEW SCOUTMASTER FOR TROOP 38

Monday evening, Dec. 8, 1930, Mr. Ernest Teberg was chosen by the Troop committee as scoutmaster of our Troop 38. Mr. Bennett, our former scoutmaster, said he was willing to let somebody take his place for he sometimes did not arrive home until quite late, thus making it hard for him to come to the meetings.

Mr. Teberg is just the man for scoutmaster. He has been to our meetings several times before and when he gives commands, you feel like obeying them. (I am sure our troop will progress faster now).

During the last few weeks, we have been practicing signaling. We send messages to each other to see who is smart enough to get the words. We also purchased a friction set. If we had about two or three of these, we could have races to see who is the best fire-builder. We'll do this later.—Reporter Raymond Rectenwald, Troop 38, Ridge school, H. P.

CAMPAIGN FOR NEW SCOUTS BEGUN

We have been working on re-organization of the troop for some time. Here are a few of the plans.

We have three patrols, none of which is full with the required eight scouts. In order to fill these patrols and to start another we want at least 10 to 12 fellows to register as scouts for the coming year. We guarantee to keep a fellow going if we can get him started in scouting. The tenderfeet will be put in a separate patrol so they can work together, until they become second class scouts when they will be put in the different patrols. Come on fellows, lets get going! — Frank Appleyard, Troop 55, Glenview, District Ed.

Scouts Shovel Snow

Our meeting was called to order at 7:30. At first we played a few games and then had a short business meeting. We made up a list of fellows who are ready to join the scouts and several of us volunteered to go out and get them in. Fire by flint and steel and fire by friction were discussed. At the next meeting everybody is going to bring their flint and steel sets for a little competition. Volunteers were called for to help clean the snow off the sidewalks in front of the Civic building and the Fire station. Appleyard, Bucklin, Bueller, Woods and Zimmerman volunteered to do the job.—Kenneth Aimmerman, Troop 55, Glenview.

RADIO TROOP SENDS S. O. S.

From the Radio Troop 57 came an S. O. S. call last week for new members. Mr. Lee Fetcher, the scoutmaster, is very anxious to get at least two more members in order that the troop might be able to register for the next year and to continue its activities.

The membership of the troop has been gathered from various troops
