

"OLIVER TWIST" TO BE GIVEN ON FRIDAY

new, colorful, jolly fairy-tale of old Ireland, which concerns a grand old king of Connaught, his beautiful, only daughter, and a mysterious vagabond. The action takes place in two medieval castles, and the story will appeal to the youngest children, pleasing older ones and adults with its delightful fantasy at the same time.

Tickets on Sale

Season tickets for adults and children may still be bought at a considerable saving from Gell's or through the mail from Mrs. Francis Parker, Box 252, Highland Park. Single admissions will be on sale at the school the day of the performance.

These remaining three performances, all full-acted plays, are heartily recommended and endorsed by the parents and school teachers, and parents are urged to buy the series tickets now, at a saving to themselves, and as a guarantee that the children may not miss the fun that they will be sure to have at the performances.

Highland Park Locals

"Robbie" Robinson's dramatic ability coupled with physical strength caused him to be much in demand for roles requiring an athlete. Last year he was the strong man in the Service club show and now he is cast as the cave man in the Hillanders performance "The Evolution of Courtship" to be given at the Elm Place auditorium on January 10.
