Ravinia Group in Annual Revue Mar. 6-7 for Auditorium Fund

Friday and Saturday evenings, March 6 and 7, will bring to Ravinia the annual revue produced each year for the benefit of the School Auditorium Maintenance fund.

The producers of this year's performance promise a revue that will surpass that of any former year. Plans are well under way to give a balanced program to satisfy every taste.

Edwin C. Jones heads the committee responsible for writing and staging the various sketches. His assistants are Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Grinnell, Mrs. Robert McKnight, Walter H. Rietz, Theodore Fischer, Frederick V. Degenhardt, James Carly Ewell, Harry Howe Bentley, Mrs. E. C. Jones and J. Mills Easton.

What the "Village Varieties" will comprise is the committee's deep, dark secret. The sketches, already written, are being cast. An evening full of original surprises is promised.

You are cautioned to keep the dates open. Don't miss the rollicking, mirth-provoking revue. More complete announcements will be made next week. In the meantime book yourself ahead for the "Village Varieties," March 6 and 7, at the Ravinia school auditorium.

Third Children's Play To Be Given February 7 Elm Place Auditorium

Be sure and save Saturday afternoon, Feb. 7, for the "Princess and the Vagabond," young and old alike! The Evanston Children's theatre will bring carloads of scenery and costumes and a large cast of players to produce for you this jolly tale of old Ireland. There will be three acts crammed with color and fun, and two different castles from which you may choose your favorite. There is a grand old king, his beautiful, only daughter, and, of course, a hero who is in this case, a mysterious vagabond whose secrets it takes both the princess and her father to unfathom.

This is the third in the series of Children's plays being given under the auspices of the literature committee of the Highland Park Woman's club. The time is 2:30, the place the Elm Place school auditorium. Tickets may be bought at the door or at Gsell's. A good time is guaranteed everyone, and all are invited to join the fun. Season ticket holders are again reminded to save the day — Feb. 7.

Four H. P. Women Are Injured in Automobile Crash in Lake Bluff

Four Highland Park women were injured when an automobile driven by Arthur George of Highwood skidded on the ice-covered pavement and crashed into the car driven by V. T. McMahon of Highland Park on Sheridan road in Lake Bluff Saturday night.

Mrs. Joseph Delhaye suffered a severe scalp wound, Mrs. Leslie Delhaye sustained a fractured wrist, Mrs. McMahon received a cut in the left leg and Joy Delhaye was bruised. All were riding in the McMahon machine.

Lake Bluff police took the four women to the Alice Home hospital in Lake Forest, from which they were released Sunday. George, who was driving a car belonging to Jack Schuster, also of Highwood, was not held.

Guy C. Caldwell

Next Tuesday, Feb. 3, at 2:30 p.m. at the Highland Park Woman's club, spring will come to us in all of its glory of awakened nature, bright flowers and jubilant birds. Mr. Guy C. Caldwell, one of America's greatest naturalists, will give an illustrated talk on "Bird songs and wild flowers."

Mr. Caldwell has the rare gift of making his listeners dwell in the holy temple of nature with the birds, wild flowers and the trees. His pictures are masterpieces; he gives many bird calls and imitates birds songs; shows pictures of the Longs Peak region on Colorado and of the Rocky Mountain regions.

Mr. Caldwell has traveled extensively all over the world, and has an intimate and practical knowledge of nature to be found in every clime. He is not only pleasing and entertaining, but instructive as well, and a source of delight to all who hear him.

DR. LAKE PRESENTS INTERESTING TALK

Summarizes Ideas of Recent National Conference on Child Welfare, Jan. 21

"Child Welfare" was the topic of a lecture given by Dr. George B. Lake before an audience of parents and educators at a meeting held Jan. 21 at the Open Air Nursery school, 186 Edgecliff drive.

Dr. Lake presented a summary of some of the more important ideas offered at the recent national conference on child welfare, held in Washington, which he attended at the invitation of President Hoover.

In addition, he offered some of his own views which he has developed from years of writing and lecturing besides editing a medical magazine.

Miss Flora Levy, director of the school, spoke briefly of the aims and program of activities of the school. She explained the wholesome effect on both children and parents of having the children spend a good share of the day with other children under the care of people specially trained for such work.

Mrs. Carl Pfanstiehl, two of whose children have attended the school, spoke in behalf of the mothers in praise of what the school is doing. Mr. R. H. Carpenter expressed the appreciation of the fathers for the excellent work of the school.

A general and lively discussion followed the lecture. The meeting was part of the regular program of activities sponsored by the school, which is now in its fourth successful year under Miss Levy's direction.
