Community Service Notes

Winter woods offer opportunities for the identification of plants. Trees may be recognized by their shape and bark.

Many interesting stories can be told from the discovery of animal foot tracks in the snow.

Cornell university school leaflets, 14, numbers 2 and 3 contain many helpful suggestions for winter nature hikes. These leaflets may be seen at the Highland Park Public library or at the Community Service office in the Chamber of Commerce.

With a good supply of snow during the next few weeks we can turn to that new winter activity, Snow Sculpturing or Moulding.

This consists of moulding any subject other than a snow man, taking a photograph of the same sending it to the recreation office in the chamber of commerce. Competent judges will pass on all models and awards will be made. Some of the popular subjects are animals, articles of furniture, popular or historical characters, popular cartoon characters and architecture. Incidentally, one may use calcimine or diamond dyes for coloring the figures and making them more realistic.

The good old art of whittling will be renewed during the month of March. Through a community wide contest for both boys and girls. The best pieces or articles will be exhibited in some public place in Highland Park.

At about the same time a poster making contest will be scheduled. This promises to bring out some very promising talent.

Two ice hockey leagues were organized at a meeting of recreation leaders held at Sunset Park last Saturday morning. The third league for older boys is in process of organization. Teams in these leagues represent local schools, parks, rinks, churches and neighborhood teams. All we need now is some cold weather so the rinks can be kept in shape.

Highland Park citizens are fortunate in having some of the best skating facilities to be found anywhere in the Chicago region. Credit is due to East Park district for the excellent manner in which they have maintained skating at the rinks during the current season.

Director of Community Recreation, Harry L. Allen has valuable recreation materials and helps for almost every leisure time activity which he will gladly share with the public. The telephone number is 858.

National Drama week Feb. 8-14 sponsored by the Drama League of America offers opportunity for some interesting dramatic activities. Community Service is glad to cooperate.

Highwood Indians Trim Holy Cross Basketeers

The Highwood Indians continued their winning streak last Monday night at the Oak Terrace school gymnasium when they handily beat the Holy Cross teams in two games.

The Indian lights were in control at all times; scoring 22 points to their opponents lone two points. "Scabby" finding the basket for five field goals.

The feature game ended in favor of the Indians' sharpshooters by a margin of 18-12. The score was within one point of a tie in the final minutes of play but a belated rally on the Indians part pulled the game out of the fire.

A preliminary game was played between the O. T. S. teachers and the Highwood high school girls which ended in a decisive victory for the teachers.

Pay Tribute to Scout Movement Exemplified for Extension Period

From Leonard E. Loos, assistant superintendent of school, Lake Forest, and Rev. Mark J. Andrews, pastor of First Presbyterian church of Deerfield, have come some interesting endorsements of the Boy Scout movement as exemplified in the program of the North Shore Area council.

Rev. Andrews writes as follows: "During the last four years, I have been closely associated with the scout movement, both through the activities of a live troop in my church, of which I acted as scoutmaster for three years, and in a wider relationship through the Area council. Thus I have seen a fine group of boys develop in a splendid type of young manhood.

"Youth is, indeed, challenged to the high ideals of life in the home, the church, and the school, but the outstanding value of scouting lies in this—that it gives to youth a further challenge to these ideals and affords the opportunity to transfer and incorporate them into actual life situations through the outlet of a wide program of expressional activities.

"Scouting can be made to occupy a very important place in realizing the great aim of the church to train for Christian being. As such, I am happy to give it a large place in my program, and sincerely hope bigger, better, and finer things for it."

Mr. Loos contributes the following statement:

"Character education of a most effective nature is afforded by the Boy Scout activities. The organization utilizes the leisure time of boys to inculcate ideals through interesting pursuits. Boys are in school a comparatively small number of hours during the year. Some homes, unfortunately, cannot provide boys much opportunity for constructive recreation. For such boys especially, and for all other boys, the scout program is a great benefit. Scouting is one of the strong agencies for determining the type of manhood that will be America tomorrow."

The trouble with buying a new overcoat during the January sales is that it immediately brings out the fact that you need a new hat and a new pair of shoes.
