D.A.R. Better Films Committee Review

There should be a "standing room only" sign at every performance at our local theatre this coming week if folks realize the exceptionally good program to be presented. And best of all it is so varied a program that all ages, all classes of people, all the different tastes in movies will be ministered to. First of all let's see what to choose for the family treat where young and old may be entertained and amused and neither may be bored by the unsuitability for the other. This week the vote will be cast first for "Along Came Youth." This is a clean sparkling farce with Buddy Rogers, Frances Dee, and Stuart Erwin. A young American loses all his money; becomes a pseudo-crook in the home of a Spaniard living in England, and finally wins out both in love and financially. A treat for all the family.

Many children are permitted only the Saturday matinee and again the manager has striven to provide suitable pictures and "Going Wild" will give them a good laugh. Joe Brown and his antics will amuse and be found harmless, and as a special delight Rin-Tin-Tin will appear at the matinee in "Rough Waters," how the children love him!

Parents do not take the children to see "Min and Bill" but whatever you do, do not miss it yourselves if you wish to see the beauty that may be found in sordidness, excellent characterizations of Marie Dressler, Wallace Beery, and Marjorie Rambeau, and pathos and humor skilfully balanced and blended. This is one of the outstanding films of these times.

"Paid" featuring Joan Crawford, Robert Armstrong and an exceptionally fine cast bring a sordid gripping under-world theme to the screen. It is a very strong play well-handled and very well-acted especially by Miss Crawford who does notable work. Recommended for adults.

Mobilization Proves Thrill for H. P. Scouts; Demonstrate First Aid

Mobilization of the scout troops of Highland Park took place on Feb. 7 at 2:15 p. m. at the corner of Central avenue and Green Bay road. An order was given the scoutmaster or assistant scoutmaster of each troop that there had been a great disaster and to mobilize their troops at once at the above place for instant duty.

At various places in the business section were placed scouts with bands on their arm to indicate their wounds. Squads of other scouts were sent with improvised stretchers and bandages to each wounded scout to give him first aid and to bring him to the emergency hospital in the "Highlands" graciously opened by Mr. McKillip for our use. The squads brought the patients to this hospital and were carefully examined by Dr. Lundstrom who commented on the efficiency of the squads in giving first aid and instructed them further in this work. Earl Gsell kindly allowed us to put a smoke smudge in the building across from the "Highlands" and at a given signal the fire department from Ravinia and our Highland Park fire department threw open their doors and with much ringing of bells and sirens drew up to the supposed fire and rushed in the smoking building. As the firemen came out overcome with the smoke they were rescued by scouts, taken to the hospital, worked over and were finally revived during which time the boys were being given instructions by Dr. Lundstrom and the fire chief, Ed. Hoskins. Afterward a very fine talk was given the scouts by Mr. Hoskins on the fine way they conducted themselves in this emergency and invited them to visit the fire department at any time and receive more instructions.

Lyle Gourley acting for the mayor addressed the scouts who then elected him a tenderfoot scout and gave him a tenderfoot badge.

The troops were then called to attention by their respective scoutmasters who formed them in line and marched to scout headquarters. After giving the scout benediction they were dismissed.

Great credit is due the scoutmasters and assistant scoutmasters for their promptness in mobilizing their troops and the efficient way their scouts were handled during this demonstration and I sincerely thank them for their co-operation.

Troop 30 under the leadership of John L. Udell were the first to arrive, had the largest representation and ranked first in efficiency. The order in which they attended were Troop 30, 18; Troop 35, 15; Troop 37, 15; Troop 32, 8; Troop 34, 7; and Troop 38, 7.

S. A. St Peter, District Commissioner.

MEASURE SUPPORTED BY VOTERS LEAGUE

Office Group Ballot Plan Regarded As Important Legislation

The legislative measure which is first this year on the program of the Illinois League of Women Voters, is the Office Group Ballot. This was discussed by Mrs. Ramond Simons at the last meeting of the Highland Park league. Her talk will be reported in full next week as well as the one on living costs given at the same time by Mrs. Maurice Pollack, who is state chairman of the league's living costs committee.

"The importance of the Office Group Ballot is so great that a number of civic organizations have asked for a conference to discuss both the measure and the means of bringing it before the public," says Mrs. May Wood-Simons, chairman of the State Committee on Revision of Election Laws for the Joint Legislative council.

Meeting in Chicago

Notices have gone out from Mrs. Simons to all her committee members and from the Illinois League of Women Voters to other state organizations, for a meeting to be held on Feb. 18 at the Woman's City club of Chicago, so that concerted action may be had.

Representative Thon and Senator Huebsch have introduced H. B. 68 and S. B. 50 respectively, both bills identical and providing for grouping the names of candidates by office instead of in a party column. The party designation, however, appears after each name so that the candidates' affiliations are clearly given.

The Office Group ballot is not a great or untried innovation, because it is identical in form with the primary ballot now successfully used in Illinois and has therefore demonstrated its practical value. Voters are familiar with it; and present holders of public office should look upon it with favor since it is the form of ballot on which they were nominated.

Diminishes Size

A further point which commands the Office Group ballot to the voters is that it markedly diminishes the size of the ballot, though it does not reduce the number of names. However, it would spare the citizens of Illinois the vast quantity of unused paper which made the general election in November a physical as well as a mental problem.
