The Silex Coffee Maker Makes its Debut

at your Public Service Store

Won't you stop in and let the Silex Lady serve you a delicious cup of coffee made the new filtered way in the Silex Coffee Maker? You'll agree, we're sure, that it has a distinctive, superior flavor different from coffee made by any other method.

And it's really an experience to see how Silex makes coffee. Water heats electrically in the lower bowl, rises automatically into the upper bowl and then filters back through the ground coffee to the lower bowl—in less than three minutes. Then it's ready to drink.

We invite you to taste and see any day next week.

Silex Coffee Makers are sold in three sizes at your Public Service Store. All metal parts are chromeplated—all glass is Pyrex. The four-cup size is $11.85, the six-cup size is $12.95, the eight-cup size is $13.95. May be purchased the "Little by Little" way.

MAY BAR HUNTING IN STATE FOR YEAR

Conservation Expert Says that Sportsmen Must Abandon Guns for that Period Sportsmen of Illinois must put away their guns and stop all shooting for one year now, or within a few years face the certain extermination of quail and other varieties of game birds and animals, C. F. Mansfield of Springfield, secretary of the Sportsmen's Mutual and the Illinois Conservation Laws Commission, predicted at a meeting of the Rock Island Rod and Reel club in Rock Island, last week.

"The hunters in Illinois have paid many millions of dollars in license fees to the department of conservation and today we have less game and fewer game birds than at any time in the history of our state," Mansfield said.

Serious Breakdown

"A serious breakdown in law enforcement by the conservation department with a failure to maintain and properly operate state game farms and fish hatcheries is indicated by apparently unrefuted evidence from all sections of Illinois.

"The population of quail, prairie chickens and pheasants has decreased to such a point that if drastic action is not taken at once by the citizens of the State of Illinois our game birds will soon meet the fate of the buffalo, the wild turkey, the heath hen and the wild pigeon.

"The sportsmen of Illinois are not responsible for this situation. They have contributed millions of dollars to the conservation department for game propagation. Next fall, when they probably will be compelled to forego the pleasures of the chase in field and forest, they should remember that inefficiency of certain public office holders and political mismanagement are largely responsible for this deplorable destruction of our wild life.

Plans to Open Air School at Antioch

Frank Van Duzer, who has been operating planes in Waukegan for years, has made announcement of plans for an airport and flying school in Antioch, construction of which will begin shortly.

The Van Duzer farm, a mile north of the village, will be graded for the landing field. Lyle Van Duzen and Harold Van Alstyne are also associated in the project.

Passenger service for long and short trips will be carried on, in conjunction with the ground school.

To Build Two Bridges Over Des Plaines, Plan

The Illinois purchases and construction department was given permission by the war department last week at Washington, D.C., to construct two bridges over the Desplaines river on the lines of Ruby and McDonough street at Joliet, Ill.

The plan provides for a single leaf draw opening with vertical clearance of 16.5 feet above water level, or 7.9 feet higher than the existing bridge at Ruby street, and for a double leaf draw opening with a similar clearance at McDonough street. The McDonough street bridge would be 25 feet higher than the old structure.

SUICIDE? MURDER? MIRACLE?

PARALYZED from that horrible accident! Never to walk again—I still burned with love for Olga—mysweet, young wife. And yet I was unable to appease that glow of hope in her eyes—hope that blazed with desire—the day she met Del Raignon—unscrupulous matinee idol.

Helpless, I watched him play on her loving, innocent nature—biding his time till Olga no longer could resist him. How I suffered—prayed for her—ragged with jealousy—and dropped to the dregs of despair.

That night—my revolver. "Good-bye, angel-heart," I whispered and—THEN! Out on the lawn—I saw Raignon take her—my wife—in his arms. "I can't let her live in that disgrace," I cried. Slowly I raised my revolver—carefully I took aim—and . . .

What did John do? In that awful climax, did he kill Olga to save her from disgrace with Raignon? Or did he murder that cad—an act which would blacken him forever in the eyes of his wife—of society—of God?

What almighty miracle could have come to solve this pitiful tangle of helpless human destinies? You must read for yourself BECAUSE I LOVED MY WIFE—the true, heart-rending story of a man who wheeled his way through hell in an invalid's chair—and what he finally found at the very brink of oblivion.
