

FINAL PERFORMANCE RAVINIA VARIETIES

Ravinians," presented at the first two performances by Mrs. Gertrude Perrigo and Henry Hammer. Mrs. Perrigo was out of the city and unable to participate in the March 13th show. Rather than eliminate this clever skit and its entertaining local hits, it was necessary to secure some one to take Mrs. Perrigo's place on short notice. Mrs. Dorothy Stokes, who, as "Susie" in "Liz's Strata," the first number of the show, furnished a finished characterization of a pert hash-house waitress, volunteered to take the part, which she did in a most capable and amusing manner.

A feature of the three performances which added much to the gala atmosphere of the occasion was provided by the corps of young people who in costume acted as program distributors, vendors, etc.

Sale of Candy

The vendors sold home made candies donated by many public spirited women of the community. The proceeds, which added materially to the net profits of the show.

there are many of the native roses of this and other countries, and many old-fashioned roses, that are not as widely planted as they might be, and by growing and labeling these varieties, the knowledge of them will be spread through this community, and attract visitors from other neighborhoods.

The garden will be designed by Doretta Klaber, landscape architect, who is donating her services as a member of the Ravinia Garden club. Mrs. Frederick Fisher, honorary president of the Illinois Garden club, says: "I am keenly interested in this undertaking especially as it will be the first municipal rose garden in the state."

The necessary funds will be raised by the Ravinia Garden club at a garden fair, which takes place Saturday, May 9, from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m., in the triangle park at Ravinia station. Everyone who wants to help should wait until the fair to buy shrubs, rock plants, perennials, and annuals, seeds, garden tools, bowls, bird baths and other accessories for the garden, besides many unusual things for the home. Further details of the fair, and membership of the committees working on it will appear next week.
