Miss Helen Carr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Carr of 946 Lincoln avenue, is taking the part of Cordelia in the Rockford College Dramatic club's presentation of Shakespeare's King Lear on April 27 and 29. The annual spring play is the most important piece of work done by the Dramatic club during the college year and is under student direction. Miss Carr has been active in the Dramatic club, having been a member of its executive committee in the capacity of make-up chairman. She has had parts in Caesar and Cleopatra, Cradle Song, The Kleptomaniac, The Tempest and was stage manager for Becket. While at Rockford college Miss Carr has been student government president, president of the junior class, athletic editor of Cupola, the junior class yearbook, and a member of the Athletic association council, varsity basketball and hockey teams, Tolo council and Classical club.

London has a "Nose club" which only admits as members those who have noses big enough to attract attention in a crowd. We suppose that the club emblem is the ant-eater.
