GIRL SCOUT NEWS

How do you know, deep underground,
Hid in your bed, from sight and sound,
Without a turn in temperature,
With weather life can scarce endure,
That light has won a fraction's strength,
And day put on some moment's length,
Whereof in merest rote will come
Weeks hence, mild airs that do not numb,
O crocus root, how do you know,
How do you know?

March and April bring the Spring, though the world seems drab and dead. Now changes can be found on trees and shrubs, and under the dead leaves on the ground, brave little pale green things are starting to grow. If we forget to look for this magic of nature now with our Girl Scouts, an entire year will have to pass before another chance comes. The story never begins or ends really, but now is the best time to start to open one's eyes to the glory of growing things. If we leaders watch eagerly and keenly, the girls will follow.

RELIGIOUS POLICY

The Girl Scout organization is non-sectarian. It does not assume the parents' prerogative of giving religious instruction, but it does encourage every girl to be a better member of her own church.
No Girl Scout may join a troop in any church other than her own without the written consent of her parent or guardian.

BROWNIES

Twenty-six little Sprites, Fairies, Pixies, and Gnomes met in the Lincoln school music room Thursday afternoon right after school. After playing one or two games, each six was shown the colored picture of a bird. After studying the coloring for a minute or two they went to their corner and colored a black and white drawing of the same bird with crayons. Then they went on an observation walk. This week Mrs. Heed and Mrs. Schur will plan the Brownie meeting. They will meet at the home of Mrs. Stockwell.

TROOP I

The Girl Scouts of Troop I met last Tuesday at the Oak Terrace school. They played games and sang songs. It was decided that they would have a garden contest as they had done previously.

The captain told them of the meeting they were going to attend in April in Highland Park. Sarah Glass, Lena Callvi and Bernice Swan were chosen as the representatives of the troop to sing and Anna Tamarri, Myrtle Walz, and Molly Kehrwald to take part in the pageant.

The girls were also reminded that the March 31st meeting would be spent in making candy for the candy sale at the Oak Terrace school.

The songs that were composed as troop songs would also be judged.

—Troop I, Highwood

TROOP III

The evening meeting of Troop III was spent in several ways. After "Colors," we departed for patrol corner and took the roll.

Then followed a gay and exciting game of "Farmer and the Grape Vine." We went back to patrol corners and played a nature game which was very interesting. After comparing notes we made our good night circle and went home.

We are not going on the trip which we had planned on.—Jean Sincere, Scribe.

"ON THEIR HIND LEGS"

That is what the top sergeant says about the raw recruits after a few days of outdoor exercise and training in a C. M. T. C. citizenship school. When most of the young men arrive they straggle around, leaning on one foot, with one elbow resting in air. They soon snap out of it, however, and stand "on their hind legs," look one squarely in the eye, and generally have that smart "front" that gets a person somewhere in daily life these days. The American Legion throughout the country sponsors the Citizens' Military Training Camps because they teach young men the principles of good government, healthful living and obedience to law.

A petition for the village of Mundelein to annex that property lying to the south of Mundelein was presented to the village board at its regular monthly meeting last week. Action on the petition was deferred until March 16.

London has a "Nose club" which only admits as members those who have noses big enough to attract attention in a crowd. We suppose that the club emblem is the ant-eater.

Bethany Evangelical

The Bethany Evangelical choir will present "The Message of the Cross," another of its fine musical renditions on Sunday afternoon at their 4:40 vesper. The cantata which they are preparing for the Easter occasion is somewhat different in nature from other cantatas that they have presented heretofore. It is a liturgical-cantata, written by J. Sheldon Scott. It differs principally in that the minister and the congregation take a part with the choir in presenting the message of the hour. The thought-theme is developed to some degree through responsive readings, the music being largely antiphonal and supplementary. The alternation of music and reading not only affords variety, but it maintains interest and heightens the solemnity and dramatic effect of climactic passages.

Mr. Scott takes his audience thru many of the high spots of the Master's life of Passion Week, dealing principally with the scenes of Gethsemane, the trial, Calvary, and the crucifixion itself. A very cordial invitation is extended to all to attend this helpful service.
