First National Bank, Waukegan, Withstands Heavy Run; Two Close

Charles N. Steele, president of the First National bank of Waukegan, which successfully withstood a heavy run last week-end, issued a statement of confidence and pledge to pay every depositor, in face of closing of the Waukegan National the second bank to close in two days, the Waukegan State bank having closed the day previously.

Although many small depositors made withdrawals during the day, professional men and business houses made usual deposits.

Postmaster Mancel Talcott, on instructions from the Treasury at Washington, deposited postal receipts in the First National as usual.

The closing of the other banks is understood to have been to prevent runs, and reports were that they would be reopened shortly, as their condition apparently was satisfactory.
