E. V. Orvis, attorney and past commander of the Matt H. L. Smith post of Veterans of Foreign Wars, Waukegan was honored with the office of judge advocate of the state department of that order in the state convention at Rockford, Saturday.

The Illinois Bankers association last week appointed G. C. Gridley, president of the First National bank of Libertyville, to the state committee on bank management. The appointment is the result of Mr. Gridley's wide reputation as a proponent of safe and sound bank management.

Forcing their way in through a rear door and window, burglars obtained loot valued at approximately $100 from the Reliable Second Hand store, 667 S. Genesee street, one night last week.

Melvin B. Ericson, formerly an official of the Biflex company of North Chicago, and a son-in-law of Ambassador Charles G. Dawes of England, has been appointed receiver of the Waukegan National bank by the comptroller of currency.

Burglars, attracted to Waukegan by the closing of two banks and the withdrawal of large amounts of cash, raided the Academy theatre and the People's Lunch room, 212 S. Genesee street, in that city one night last week, taking cash and merchandise amounting to $150.

Warren O'Neill, 19 years old, of 3325 Monroe street, Chicago, last week lost his life on Milwaukee road south of Libertyville, when a motorcycle on which he was riding skidded on the wet pavement and collided with a car driven by Theodore Goldsmith, of 915 Hickory street, Waukegan.

One hundred business and professional men of Waukegan have given their pledge to the city that they and their employes will park their cars outside of the shopping district, as their contribution to the effort being made to clear the busiest streets of the city of parked cars.

Miss Miriam A. Besley, noted educator, for many years head of the Waukegan public schools, and member of a pioneer Waukegan family, died last week.
