SCOUT PROGRAM TO INCLUDE INDIAN BOYS

Because the office of Indian Affairs of the U. S. Department of the Interior looks upon the Boy Scout movement as "A most valuable auxiliary program in Indian education and because it makes definite contributions in the development of character, training in leadership and self-reliance," it has recently invited Stanley A. Harris, National director of Inter-racial activities of the Boy Scouts of America, to help in the further extension of the Boy Scout program to all boys at Indian schools and reservations.

Mr. Harris recently instructed a group of scout leaders working with Indian boys and many potential leaders during a five-day course conducted at the U. S. Indian school at Flandreau, S. D. Two other courses are to be held August 17 to 21 at the Pawnee Indian school at Pawnee, Okla., and August 22 to 26 at the Charles H. Burke Indian school at Fort Wingate, N. M.

WHAT THEY SAY ABOUT BOY SCOUTS

The Boy Scout headquarters in Highland Park have received many enthusiastic endorsements of the scout program from prominent schoolmen, clergy, women, and business men. Some of these follow:

Rev. Lee H. Smith, pastor Northbrook Presbyterian church:

"Scouting, when sincerely practiced, meets the need of the boy during the critical period in his development like no other program for boys offered to date. It appeals to the very highest and finest qualities inherent in them. It offers an unexcelled opportunity to the sponsoring institution to win them for a life of high moral and spiritual character by making practical applications that fit and make fit these boys for their present and future lives. Most certainly the Boy's work program of the church is not complete without scouting."

Vice-President of Armour and Company: "Contact with Boy Scouts has made me an advocate of the movement. I have observed that scouts, as a class, approach their responsibilities more seriously, do their work more efficiently, and in general are more dependable than those boys who are not sufficiently energetic and ambitious to become scouts: "I have nothing but praise for scouting."

Mrs. Paul MacGuffin, Libertyville: "Every boy wishes to be a leader, a hero, a man his family, friends and country may be proud of and scouting gives him training that fits him for this leadership. The great men of our country have been scouts in character and principles. The scout oath and law are the fundamental principles of good citizens. The scout method "Learning by doing" is real fun. Scouting provides a fine group of boys for pals. Wholesome recreation and hobbies develop sturdy bodies, teaches trades and is the best solution for idleness and aimless activity which so often lead to wrong-doing. The scouts of today will be our leaders tomorrow."

TROOP ENJOYS OVER-NIGHT HIKE

Our weekly meeting June 26 was held at our Cabin in the Woods. The first thing we did at the meeting was try passing some of our outdoor tests. Following that we had a few relay sack races and a 100 yard dash in which Tommy Horan and Ernest Gilroy received first place. Just about this time the mosquitoes began to bite. After everybody got their wind again we all went on a gopher hunt at which no gophers were caught. While on the hunt Waino Newman and the patrol leaders found a dandy swimming hole in which they took a dip. About this time we were ready for bed. Most of Troop 48 were present and we hope at the next meeting all of the boys will be present. At the meeting we had a visitor whom we hope will join our troop.—Jack Neale, Troop 48, Lake Forest, Illinois.

TROOP 37 SWIMS AT LAKE ZURICH

On Thursday, June 18 Troop 37 instead of holding a meeting, took a night off to clean the meeting room. All the windows and walls were washed. After that the deck cleaners, all the patrol leaders and our scoutmaster, Mr. Walecha, took some brooms and water and scrubbed the floor.

Last Thursday, June 25, the entire troop went to Lake Zurich for a swim. We swam until 8:30 and then we left for home. We had intended to go to the Dead River in Waukegan, but the recent rain made it impossible.—Anker Jeppesen, Troop 37, Highland Park.

BOY SCOUT TELLS OF TOMB DEDICATION

Wilmette, Ill. June 20, 1931

Dear Mr. Rybolt: Dad and I went to Springfield, Ill. to witness the dedication of Lincoln's Tomb by President Hoover, and at the request of Mr. Davis (the scout executive of the Abraham Lincoln council) was one of the honorary Eagle scout guards of Lincoln's tomb.

We were the guests of the Boy Scout camp, which was in session and had a dandy time. I sure appreciate Ma-Ka-Ja-Wan after seeing another camp.

The Abraham Lincoln council awards a "Lincoln medals" to the scout who meets certain requirements—

1. To read the Boy Scout Life of Lincoln by Ida M. Tarbell.
2. Submit an acceptable book review of the same.
3. Walk alone from Old Salem over the Lincoln road to Springfield (23 miles) in one day.

One of my reasons for making the trip to Springfield was to take this hike as I had word that my book review was satisfactory. It is sure some beautiful walk through beautiful farming country and over the same road that Lincoln frequently walked.

We drove out to Old Salem State Park the night before so as to be on the job the first thing in the morning. After setting up our camp we examined the old town of log cabins that have been restored as they were originally when Lincoln lived there.

The alarm rang at 3 a.m., we got up, had breakfast and off at an early start at 4 a.m. This was a good thing for the temperature rose to 93 degrees later. Daddy packed the camping equipment and was ready to go when the gates of the park were unlocked at 5 a.m. He caught up to me after I had gone 7 1/2 miles. After a refreshing glass of orange juice, Daddy drove on to Salisbury, the first control station. I came in shortly and had my card signed. After a short rest, I went on Daddy had my dinner ready for me at 9:30 and I sure was ready for it. 12 miles of the trip were done but it was beginning to get quite warm. I took off my Scout shirt and put on a polo shirt, which was lots better. There were three other places I had to register and have my card signed. I finished up the trip about 1:30 without a blister or any other bad effects except being tired. Gee! I sure was glad to jump into the Y.M.C.A. pool when I got through.

I am sure some of the other boys will like to take this hike. It is well worth the time and trouble and also will complete the hardest requirement in the Hiking Merit badge. Enclosed you will find the rules.
