

CHARLES V. HADLEY ADDRESSES CITY CLUB

Mr. Hadley's talk was preceded by remarks on the part of Mr. Wilson L. Kline, president of the City club, relative to the objects for which the City club was organized, and the need for such an organization was emphasized by the address which followed.

Before the meeting adjourned, those present were asked to state, on cards distributed through the audience, thoughts that were in their minds, relative to matters of local interest, and this developed many interesting points as shown by the following questions, selected at random from those presented:

1. Has anything been done about having Highland Park join in the fight for a gas rate reduction?
2. It is generally understood that large sums of money in special assessment funds has, in the past, been kept on deposit in the banks instead of being used to pay off special assessment bonds on which the taxpayers pay six per cent interest. Will the City club investigate to see if it is not possible to pay off special assessment bonds more frequently, thereby saving the taxpayers considerable money?
3. A recent article in the Highland Park Press stated facts relative to the tax rates of cities in this state, which showed Highland Park's rate to be the highest in the state. Will the City club look into this matter and report to the people of the city?
4. A report circulated by the Chicago Regional Planning association in May of this year shows that Highland Park has 40.7 acres of parks and playgrounds per thousand of population. The report recommends that park districts and municipalities adopt the figure "10 acres for each thousand population" as a basis for acquiring parks. Will the City club investigate the reason for Highland Park having so much more park area than is advised by the Regional Planning association?
5. The recent Park District Appropriation Ordinance provides for the payment of $30,000.00 this year for public benefits on special assessments. This would seem to indicate a total indebtedness for all purposes, including bonds, of about $686,000.00. It is understood that the limit of indebtedness permitted by statute is about $400,000.00. Will the City club look into this matter and report its findings?
6. Will the City club examine the new audits of the accounts of the City of Highland Park as soon as possible, analyze them, and give its members and other citizens of the city the benefit of the opinion of its Board of Trustees on the subject?
7. What, if anything has been done to determine whether or not it might be possible to reduce our water rates?

Through the summer, the officials of the City club expect to give their attention to these suggestions, making reports to the membership as occasion may be presented and in the fall and winter, it is expected that meetings such as that of last week, will be held from time to time so that the citizens of this city may be kept in close touch with matters that so vitally concern them.

Women Voters Radio Program During July; Interesting Subjects

With Mr. Hoover's proposal for a moratorium war debts, there has been an intense re-awakening of interest in foreign affairs, and in all the machinery relating to adjustment of international differences. The Illinois League of Women Voters is therefore arranging a series of five radio talks along these lines, to be given on successive Wednesdays. Also as a timely topic, brought to everyone's attention of late through the publicity on Cook county's troubles, the League is sponsoring four radio talks on County Government, presented on Mondays and Wednesdays during July. The complete program over WGN at 2 p. m. follows:

July 1—"The Young Plan," Dr. J. W. Bell, Department of Economics, Northwestern university.

July 6—"County Government—What It Is," Mrs. Laura Hughes Lunde, Legislative chairman, Illinois League.

July 8—"Methods for International Adjustments," Mrs. W. A. Roberts, chairman, School of Foreign Affairs, Cook County League.
