

RAVINIA PROGRAM FOR THIRD WEEK

Giuseppe Danise singing its brilliantly stellar roles, while Mr. Papi conducted.

Wednesday night changed the mood felicitously with the external favorite, "Martha" in which Florence Macbeth, Ina Bourskaya, Mario Chamlee, Virgilio Lazzari and Vittorio Trevisan combined mirth with melody, while Mr. Hasselmans conducted.

Children's Concert

Thursday afternoon stages the usual concert for children, played by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, Mr. De Lamararter conducting, and followed by the Barney Google Animal Circus. The orchestra program includes excerpts from "The Bartered Bride," "Thais," "Lohengrin," and the overture to "William Tell."

Thursday night schedules a repetition of Puccini's "Manon Lescaut," in which Lucrezia Bori and Giovanni Martinelli will again sing the roles in which they recently stirred such widespread approval. Mme. Bourskaya, Mr. Defrere, and Mr. D'Angelo will also repeat the roles they have done so splendidly and Mr. Papi again conducts.

"Tosca" makes it seasonable bow on Friday, with Yvonne Gall in the name-part, which endows her with opportunities for pictorial as well as vocal success, and Mr. Johnson as Cavaradossi, the artist who puts down his brush to turn patriot and finds politics even less dependable than painting. To say that the tenor has the histrionic as well as the vocal measure of the part is to be guilty of a cliché, but it happens also to be true. Mr. Danise is the conniving Scarpia, gifted with one of the most subtle baritones on any operative roster, while Mr. Trevisan presents his famous Sacristan and Mr. Gandolfi is new as the fugitive.

"The Bartered Bride"

"The Bartered Bride," which made such a hit at its Ravinia premiere last summer, is restored to its waiting public on next Saturday night, with Mme. Rethberg as the charming Marie, Mr. Chamlee as the bargain-driving suitor, Mr. D'Angelo as the merry marriage broker and Mr. Windheim as the addled singer of the stuttering song. Although Bohemian in authorship, the opera is sung in German at Ravinia, where its blithe content contrasts vividly with the more somber quality of the usual German fare. Miss Page and Mr. Scott add to the decorative quality with the ballet, and Mr. Hasselmans conducts.

Sunday Afternoon

The French Concert of Sunday afternoon, July 12, will be played by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, Eric DeLamararter conducting, and Daniel Saldenberg, violoncellist, as soloist, to be followed by a program given by La Chorale Francaise de Chicago, under the direction of Edouard Dufresne, with accompaniments by Xenia Weicher. The orchestra program includes: "Le Carnival Romain," by Berlioz; Suite from "Dardanus," by Rameau, edited and orchestrated by Eric DeLamararter; "Phaeton," by Saint-Saens; Danse macabre, by Saint-Saens, with violin obbligato by John Weicher; dances from "Le Cid," by Massenet; and Concerto in A minor for Violoncello, by Saint-Saens, played by Mr. Saldenberg. There is no charge for reserved seats at any concert, the gate admission covering everything. Children under fourteen years of age are admitted free.

"La Boheme" is scheduled for repetition on Sunday night, July 12, with Miss Bori again heading the cast, but with Mr. Jagel new as Rodolfo. Otherwise, the list is the same, holding Margery Maxwell, Mario Basiola, Virgilio Lazzari, Desire Defrere and others. Mr. Papi conducts.
