Next Sunday morning the pastor will give the last of the series of talks on "The Ten Commandments in Modern Life." The series has been interrupted the past few weeks by other topics. It may surprise many to know that the Master placed this sin at the head of the list among the most serious ones on several occasions. It is undoubtedly one of the most perilous sins of our day.

The new Obstacle Golf course was opened Wednesday evening of this week and proved interesting to those who played. The course will be open any evening when a group desires to play. Tuesday and Thursday evenings are suggested as convenient evenings to come around. A small fee to cover expense of lighting, etc., will be charged.

There was a good attendance at our communion service Sunday morning and it was a most inspiring occasion. The class of boys and girls recently received into the church received their first communion in a group and helped to make the service a most delightful one. The Sunday school attendance was also better than the previous Sunday and the race is close with the "Blues" winning by a small margin over the "Blues." The pastor gave a short talk about the Holy City which he has visited thus adding to the interest in the close of the "race."
