cast including Elisabeth Rethberg, Giovanni Martinelli, Julia Claussen, Florence Macbeth, Giuseppe Danise and Virgilio Lazzari, proved especially delightful.

Children's Concert

The children's concert will be played Thursday afternoon by the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, Eric DeLamarter conducting, and it is followed by Ali Ben Ay, whom you may guess to be a Famous Arabian Man of Mystery who indulges in a Program of Magic. Children under 14 years of age are admitted free at the outer park gates, but children under five years of age will not be admitted to seats in the opera house.

Donizetti's "Lucia di Lammermoor" will be sung on Thursday night, with Florence Macbeth in the name part, Mario Basiola as Sir Henry, Virgilio Lazzari as Raymond and Frederick Jagel new in the cast as Edgardo. Mr. Papi will conduct the famous score which revels in the supreme melody of the Sextette, the Mad Scene and numerous other familiarly worthwhile interludes of song.

"Peter Ibbetson" Friday Night

"Peter Ibbetson" is to be repeated on Friday night, with Lucrezia Bori and Edward Johnson in the roles they created and to which they so far have held exclusive rights. The brilliant cast holds Miss Macbeth, Mme. Bourkaya, Mr. Gandolfi, Mr. Rothier and many others, while Mr. Pelletier conducts. Deems Taylor's new opera has literally been a sensation on the north shore, where its exquisite melody, its enchanting story and its intelligible English make it a glorious contribution to the literature of opera.

"La Juive" is scheduled for Saturday night, August 22, with Elisabeth Rethberg, Giovanni Martinelli, Florence Macbeth and Leon Rothier in its striking cast, while Ruth Page and Blake Scott dance and Mr. Hasselmans conducts.
