

HUGE CROWD VISITS FORT VISITING DAY

More Than 7,000 Witness Demonstrations at C.M.T.C. on Last Saturday

An attendance record was set at the annual Visitors day at the Citizens Military Training camp at Fort Sheridan last Saturday, August 22, when a crowd estimated by newspaper men at 7500 lined all sides of the parade ground for the review at which 40 students outstanding in military "excellence" were presented with medals. Colonel Edward Davis, retiring Commandant, was the reviewing officer, and Mr. Paul Butler, Civilian Aide to the Secretary of War for the State of Illinois, presented the awards. 1800 students paraded, the honored students taking position in the reviewing line with Colonel Davis and Mr. Butler.

The winner of the Highland Park American Legion Auxiliary medal for the best student from Lake county, Illinois was won by Charles Hazelrigg, of Co. "F", son of Captain and Mrs. William R. Hazelrigg of Fort Sheridan. Young Hazelrigg is a Blue or Senior student, who distinguished himself both in military "excellency" and athletics.

American Legion organizations of 16 counties and three cities in Illinois have awarded medals for the outstanding representatives of the respective counties and cities in the camp.

The camp, declared by Colonel Davis to be a highly successful one, closes August 28, when the students break camp and draw travel pay to their homes.

On Monday, August 24 Major General Frank Parker, Commander of the Sixth Corps Area, inspected the entire camp. Gen. Parker declared the camp "superior" after his inspection. At the Monday evening parade over 300 medals were presented for students who won places in the athletic events, including the Patten Day Track and Field Meet, baseball, soccer, swimming, wrestling, boxing, fencing basketball and volleyball.

"Why Go To Church?" Question Discussed by Local Contributor

The following contribution on the subject, "Why go to church," is written by the Rev. William W. Nelson, pastor of the Swedish Methodist church, Highwood. It is self-explanatory:

How many children would attend public school if there were no compulsion? Why, you say, many would attend anyway because they realize the importance of getting an education. You are right—many would attend school without being compelled to do so, but the fact is also true that other thousands, if not millions, who are now attending would stay home. Why is that statement true? Simply because many children (and even some parents) are not in a position to realize and appreciate the benefits received from study and school. To the average child a day's work in class may seem insignificant, but those who are concerned about the education of the child know the value of every class hour. Little by little every day's attendance makes its contribution until the once illiterate person is able to read and write and speak intelligently.

The same thing is true about the work of the church. It is very difficult and nearly an impossibility for some people to realize the value of attending church and Sunday school. At every Sunday's attendance does make its contribution. Silently but surely, though often times slowly, the leaven of truth is doing its work. How is it done? How does it take place? Jesus gave us a startling thought relating to the question when He said that for the materially minded man the entire process is bewildering and confusing for it is beyond his grasp and comprehension (perhaps because it is beyond the realm of his interest). It is difficult to explain the complete process that takes place through the influence of the church—as impossible as it is to analyze the influence of a good friend, yet who is willing to stand forth and deny the benefit and value received from good friendship. No! Mr. Materialist, you can't weight the value of a church's influence on your scales of brass and iron, but watch the regular church attendant. If he attends a church that is really awake and alive, regardless of denomination, more interested in the world in which he lives, and ready at all times to be of service to both God and His fellow men.

Highwood Girl, Lost for Three Days, Is at Home

After being sought by her frantic parents and the police in all North Shore cities for several days, Emily Leoni, the 16 year old Highwood girl, who disappeared from her home Monday morning, was found hiding in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Harrington of Wilmette, who had occasionally employed the girl for work as a domestic. Emil Lauridsen, chief of the Highwood police, broke into the house, where he felt sure the girl had secreted herself.

Women Voters League Interested in Coming Supreme Court Election

Because of the resignation of Justice William M. Farmer of Vandalia, a special election to choose his successor will be held in the 2nd Supreme Judicial district on August 31. Political Party conventions selected Harold S. Williams of Taylorville and Norman T. Jones of Carrolton as Republican and Democratic candidates, respectively.

Following a custom of the Illinois League of Women Voters to make an analysis of the requirements of the office to be filled Mrs. Guy Tawrey, assistant chairman of the Department of Efficiency in Government, answered several questions submitted to her:

"A judge in the supreme court serves a term of nine years. No person is eligible unless he is 30 years old and shall have resided five years in the state next preceding the election, and shall be a resident in the district from where he is elected."

"The terms of the court are held in Springfield in the Supreme Court building. The constitution states that the court 'shall have original jurisdiction in cases relating to the revenue, in mandamus and habeas corpus proceedings, and appellate jurisdiction in all other cases'."

In selecting a man to serve on the largest judicial body of our state, we should choose a man of integrity, fearlessness, and mature judgment, capable of administering impartial justice.

In the August National Municipal Review is a timely statement: Because of a great lack of authentic facts on the best way to select judges, the American Judicative society has asked the National Municipal league to undertake a study on "Selection of judiciary." The committee is being formed with Dean Justin Miller of Duke University School of Law, as chairman; and for secretary, Edward W. Martin, of the Public Affairs committee of the Union League club of Chicago.

D. A. R. Better Films Committee Review

Tonight and tomorrow the picture is "Man in Possession." This highly amusing comedy is full of resque situations, but so skillfully played as not to be too vulgar. Robert Montgomery gives a good performance. Adults.

"Chances" is a war story in which the chief figures are two brothers and a girl with whom both are in love. Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. and Rose Hobart enact the roles allotted to them very excellently. Those who enjoyed the actres in "Liliou" and "The Lady Surrenders" will be glad to see her in this.

For the best family picture this coming week we will nominate "Black Camel." It is taken from a detective picture by Earl Derr Biggers. Warner Oland again delights us with his loveable characterization of Mr. Chan the redoubtable Chinese detective. The story has plenty of humor and thrills and will be found good entertainment for the entire family.

"Up for Murder" is a depressing story of a young reporter who is involved in the death of a newspaper owner. Lew Ayres and Genevieve Tobin offer fine portrayals but the theme is too unpleasant for discriminating audiences. Adults.

Tourney at Exmoor

Friday, Sept. 4, a "Father and Son" tournament will be held at the Exmoor Country club. Play will be in two ball foursomes, each pair having half of their added handicaps.
