PRESS NOW MEMBER OF QUALITY GROUP

One of Eight News Magazines of Suburban Region with Wide Circulation

With this issue The Highland Park Press becomes a member of a league of eight news magazines which reach a population of approximately 200,000 in Chicago's highest class and wealthiest suburbs.

The purpose of this league, incorporated as the Chicago Suburban Quality Group, is to facilitate the placing of national and other large-scale advertising. Local editorial advertising policies of The Press and the seven other members are not affected in any way. Their ownership and management continue as in the past.

Highest Rating

In forming the league only the suburbs which have the highest rating for buying ability and educated response to advertising have been included. In each suburb the medium was chosen which unquestionably dominates its community and possesses long established reader interest and advertising power.

Girl Reserves, Who And What They Are, In Y. W. Organization

Who are the Girl Reserves and what is their program? Perhaps the first part of that question is the easiest part to answer for they are simply, the "teen-age members" of the Y. W. C. A. of which there are more than 290,000 in the United States and many more in the forty-nine countries reached by the Young Woman's Christian association.

As to the G. R. program it is a movement to help in the building of personality and attitude in line with social progress—to secure for girls that abundant life held out as an ideal in the purpose of the Y. W. C. A.

Girl Reserves themselves say that club life brings pleasure, adventure, knowledge, experience, good health, companionship, development of leadership ability, and chance for self expression. To them, this means learning new skills, talking things over together, taking part in dramatics and athletics and pursuing special interests. Every interest in home, school, church and community holds the possibility of practice in the habit of "facing life squarely."

Activities of a Girl Reserve club center upon the relationship a girl has with her family, with people of other nationalities and races.

Through their club life, Girl Reserves discover new appreciation of beauty, learn the meaning of world friendship and find their places as citizens of their communities and of the world.

Girl Reserve programs, therefore, take innumerable forms, but all of them aim to help a girl build up within herself standards of value for the living of a balanced life.

Girl Reserve clubs have been active for many years in the local Y. W. C. A.

Fire Marshal Points Two Good Deeds For Fire Prevention Week

You can do two good deeds this week. Fire Prevention week is this week. Oct. 4 to Oct. 11. One good deed would be to go to your attics and store rooms and check over your discarded clothes, shoes and other articles that could be used by others who are not as fortunate. Send them to your social center. That would be one good deed. The other is to remove all rubbish from your attics and store rooms as well as your basements.

Call a furnace man to look over your heating plant. The smoke pipe will rust out especially if the basement is damp. Rust holes in the smoke pipe have caused many homes to be burned and many fires of this kind are in the coldest weather, when the heating plant is fired the hardest.

Have your service man look over your oil burner. Even though the oil burner is automatic there is no machine that does not require attention and especially after a Summer of idleness.

When cleaning clothes, rugs and pillows be sure to remember that this work is dangerous and may prove false economy. Remember that there are pilot lights on your gas stoves as well as on the hot water heaters in the basements so that the kitchen and the basement are dangerous places to clean materials. If you must clean materials the safe place to use cleaning fluids is in the back yard.

Oily rags should be burned. When rags are allowed to lay there is danger of spontaneous combustion and may cause you serious loss.

The Fire Department has made over 1400 inspections this year. These inspections have been confined to public buildings. I would recommend that every house be inspected by the head of the house to see that your home is made safe against fire.

E. C. Hoskin, Fire Marshal.

STANLEY T. SANTI KILLED LAST NIGHT

Prominent Athlete Fatally Injured in Auto Accident; Funeral Saturday

Stanley T. Santi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Santi of Highwood, died last night about eleven-thirty at the Highland Park hospital following an automobile accident which occurred on West Deerfield road, east of the Blodgett station about nine-thirty o'clock.

Santi, who was manager and coach of the Highwood Indian football team, together with four other boys were on their way to Phil Johnson's restaurant on Waukegan road south of Deerfield following football practice, when the accident occurred. It appears that they were driving west on Deerfield road when another car, it is reported, driven by an E. Borg, came along parallel with them and started to make a left-hand turn into a drive in front of their car. Ossian Carlson, driver of the car in which Santi was riding, attempting to avoid a collision ran his car (a Hudson coach) off the pavement into loose gravel where it started careening, finally
