HIGHLAND PARK PUBLIC LIBRARY

HIGHLAND PARK ILLINOIS

Reference Department

Fall is always the time of reorganization and planning for winter activities. And thus public library is making plans for more effective service in the coming year. Not the least of these plans is the ambition to increase the reference assistance which may be available for the public. Not only are students encouraged to seek help in their school work but also the general public is urged to make use of present reference facilities which are being enlarged wherever possible.

Some Recent Reference Books

Who's Who in Chicago—One of our most interesting new reference books is Who's Who in Chicago. Drop in some time and look up some of your friends—you may be surprised to find how many notables are listed among your acquaintances. Encyclopedia of Social Sciences—The fifth volume of the Encyclopedia of Social Sciences has recently been received and like the first volumes contains signed articles written by distinguished authorities.

Revised Statutes of the State of Illinois—An important addition in the field of law is Cahill's Revised Statutes of the State of Illinois, which embraces all general laws of the state of Illinois in force Aug. 1, 1931.

American Annual—The addition of the 1931 annual of the American now brings that encyclopedia up-to-date.

Essay and General Literature Index—Another reference work of importance is the Essay and General Literature Index which indexes thousands of essays and articles from several hundred volumes of collections and miscellaneous works.

Dictionary of American Biography—The Dictionary of American biography has now added its seventh volume. This set when completed will rank with the English Dictionary of National Biography. Like the latter it includes only persons no longer living and also those of all people who lived in the territory now known as the United States.

Newspapers

One corner of the reference room is devoted to the newspaper file which includes the following papers: Chicago Tribune, New York Times, Evanston News-Index, United States Daily, Christian Science Monitor, Chicago Evening Post, Benton News, and the Army and Navy Journal.

Social England

After waiting for three years the library has at last been able to add a set of Traill's Social England to the reference collection. This indispensable work is "a series of short excellent treatises by eminent specialists which form a record of the progress of the people in religion, laws, learning, arts, industry, commerce, science, literature, and manners from the earliest times to the present day. (1904.)"

Living Authors

When you visit the library look up your favorite authors in Living Authors an excellent volume containing 400 biographies and intimate glimpses of contemporary writers.

Magazines

Those who have been unable to locate current magazine articles because they were at the bindery will be pleased to know that the 1931 volumes of bound magazines are now ready for use. The bond magazines since 1926 are kept in the reference room and the indexes to magazines will be found on a table designed exclusively for their use.

American Printing Presses

An exhibit of some of the best work of American presses is now on display in the reference room.

From the Lakeside Press in Chicago may be seen three leaves from Rockwell Kent's Moby Dick of 1930.

The Caxton club of Chicago is represented by a copy of Samuel Mearne, binder to King Charles II, by Cyril Davenport, 1906, and by a copy of Ancient Books and Modern Discoveries by F. G. Kenyon.

Problem Arises in Care of Patients at County Hospital

Failure of Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom to make a direct ruling on the right of a county to charge townships for the care of patients in the Lake County General hospital today brought a new problem for Supervisor David Van Patten, of Newport, chairman of the hospital committee.

The patients cost the county about $3.75 daily, according to Van Patten, and this, under the Finn Pauper act, should be billed back to the townships from which the patients claim residence.

Starting Sept. 1 the hospital committee started keeping a record of residence of patients preparatory to billing the various towns.

In his last ruling Carlstrom held that a county could maintain a county farm and pay the salary of a county physician, but his office failed to rule on the right to charge the townships for patients although the state law permits counties to have hospitals, it is said.

Ralph E. Church Out in Front for Congress

Ralph E. Church

Friends of Ralph E. Church are calling attention to the fact that his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Congress from the new Thirteenth District is rapidly gaining strength throughout the entire territory. Following Mr. Church's announcement June 19, the original Committee of 277, a group representing every interest, opened the campaign in July with a letter recommending Mr. Church to the district on his highly endorsed record of personal and political integrity and efficient public service made as State Representative from the sixth senatorial district for the past sixteen years. The many strong supporters of Mr. Church are meeting with great success in building new committees throughout all sections of this district, in which Mr. Church, because of his staunch fight at all times against inefficiency and waste in government and especially against high taxes, is regarded by constantly increasing numbers as an acceptable candidate.
