of 1930, and registrations will be 5,000 below last year.

Several changes have been made in the course itself, designed to make the second nine holes more attractive, both from the golfers point of view and architecturally.

Millard presided at the business meeting, introducing Hardacre, president of the park; Samuel Hastings, former mayor of Highland Park, and several other honored guests.

Proud of Golf Course
Hardacre said that the park board was exceptionally proud of the golf course, which is considered one of the best in the Chicago district. Ex-Mayor Hastings gave all credit for development of the course and the club to Mr. Laing.

Entertainment was furnished by the King trio of Chicago, which also led community singing, and by two dancers from the city playgrounds, Jean Bowers and Francis May Spaulding.

Motion pictures of the north shore open tourney, both in 1930 and last Summer, were shown. Other activities, on the playgrounds, at the beaches and in the city parks, were also illustrated.
