enlisted for service on June 15, 1898, in Company of Bloomington, Ill., in the Fifth Illinois Volunteer Infantry. He was mustered out of this service on October 16, 1898.

War Service

On Nov. 4 of the same year Mr. East enlisted in Company M. 15th U. S. Infantry. In this service he remained continuously until January 23, 1911. On January 31 of that year he re-enlisted in the 16th Recruit company, General Service Infantry. He was transferred to the Quartermaster Corps when that corps was organized in 1912 and remained in that service continuously until he was retired on November 20, 1923, having been credited with thirty years' service on account of double time for certain foreign service.

Mr. East went to France with the First Division, the first to go and the last to come back. His previous service had been as a non-commissioned officer, but in France on December 16, 1917, he was commissioned captain. He was promoted to major on September 4, 1918.

Girl Reserve Program Broadcast Last Week From Washington, D.C.

The week of November 1-8 Girl Reserves all over the world celebrated the Golden Jubilee. Over N.B.C. network a Girl Reserve program was broadcast by Mrs. Wm. Dewitt Mitchell, wife of the Attorney-General of the United States. Mrs. Mitchell spoke of the growth of this movement in the last 50 years. Messages and cables were received at the National Y.W.C.A. headquarters in New York from 49 countries and 48 states. Mrs. Herbert Hoover, first lady of the land gracious and friendly as always cut the huge birthday cake in Washington, D. C. The 3,000 Girl Reserves had as their guest the Camp Fire Girls, the Settlement House Girls, the Girls Friendly society and the Girl Scouts. The U. S. Military Band under the leadership of Wm. McCullen played Girl Reserve songs and music for the folk dances put on by various Girl Reserves of Washington representing Girl Reserve customs of the world. Mrs. Mitchell closed the broadcast by challenging every Girl Reserve to adventure into unknown paths following their pledge to face life squarely and to find and give the best.

For their meeting on Tuesday the B.Y.'s had Treasure Hunt.

The hunt consisted of seven hiding places for clues for finding the treasure, which was buried in the ravine in back of the Y.

The treasure which was found by May Hanson and her gang, was a beautifully decorated five-pound box of candy.

Urges Remodeling and Repair Work Now to Aid the Unemployed

H. H. Bede, advertising manager of the National Real Estate Journal who is a resident of Highland Park, has a good suggestion regarding the providing of employment for those out of work, especially in the building trades and skilled worker lines. In a letter to the Press he urges remodeling and repair work as a means to this end. His letter:

For some weeks I have been trying to gather together the forces that could start some maintenance and remodeling work in our community so as to provide employment for the skilled workers in the building trades.

At a meeting of the committee on reconditioning, remodeling, and modernizing, of the President's Conference on Home Building and Home Ownership, in Washington recently, I discussed this sort of activity and found that the other members of this committee regarded it as an effective way in which to aid our present unemployment situation. The committee recommends:

"The immediate emergency organization of community groups and individual effort in every city and town, and where feasible in every village and county in the United States, to relieve unemployment by stimulation of reconditioning, remodeling and modernizing."

Other Games

Another pre-dinner game which affords much merriment is "Nut target practice." In a dishpan place a round baking dish and inside that a tin cup. Have the players stand at a designated distance from the target and try to hit the bull's eye. Five nuts are the ammunition, and each one that lands in the cup counts five; each going into the dish, counts two, and each one landing in the dishpan, one. The player receiving the highest score is given the choice piece of turkey as a reward for his skill as marksman.

A game which may be played between courses around the table or after dinner is one which may be called "Indians." The leader begins by naming some letter of the alphabet; the next player adds a letter, always to the last letter given, looking toward the formation of a word. Each one in turn adds a letter, but must avoid any addition which would complete the word. If he does so, he becomes a "half-Indian." By the rules of the game, no one is allowed to speak to a half-Indian; if any player does so, he himself becomes a half-Indian. The half-Indians may continue playing, and may talk to anyone they please, but they may not be answered although they endeavor to trap others into conversation with them. If a player is obliged to add a letter that finishes a word and is already a half-Indian, he becomes a whole-Indian and must drop out of the game. He may still speak to members of the group; however, anyone answering him is penalized as before. The players are thereby rapidly eliminated from the game and the contest in word-making is narrowed down to two people, one of whom must, sooner or later, become a full Indian. It will soon be seen that the point of the game is to twist the words in such a fashion as to avoid adding any letter which might be a final one.

The games that are played after Thanksgiving dinner certainly should not call for a great deal of physical activity.

In next week's Press these Thanksgiving party suggestions will include programs for after-dinner games, stunts, and other activities.
