

PASQUESI BROS. ARRIVE IN ITALY TODAY

The first passengers booked by Pasquesi Bros. Inc., since this well known Highwood concern assumed the agency of several of the trans-Atlantic steamship lines, have now arrived at their destinations in Italy. These tourists, Teodoro Minorini, Dino Santi, Alfonso Lenzini and Tony Minorini, all residents of Highwood, left New York on October 31 on the crack North German Lloyd express liner "Europa."

The latter which Sante Pasquesi received from these travelers indicates in every respect that the trip, especially the ocean voyage, was a huge success. And the accompanying picture, taken on board the "Europa," more or less confirms this. The letter reads:

"At five o'clock tomorrow morning we will arrive in Cherbourg. We had a wonderful trip. Our treatment, on shipboard, was most cordial and considerate. Everything was splendid and particularly neat and clean. We are fully satisfied in every respect. Regards to you and our many friends in Highwood."

PLANNING ANOTHER P. T. A. BOOK FAIR

which will provide much needed books for the Ravinia school library.

Making Posters

Mr. Harry Howe Bentley and Mrs. Howard H. Hitchcock are making attractive posters which will soon be distributed throughout the town to advertise the fair to those who may not read the local newspapers.

In order to acquaint all of the parents of the Ravinia school children of the advantage thus offered to them in this interesting and instructive exhibit, the December meeting of the Ravinia P. T. A. will be held the afternoon of the opening of the fair, Tuesday, Dec. 1, in the auditorium of the Ravinia Village House. The school children will give the program, repeating in part, their charming "Book Week" assembly, in which graphic illustrations are made of the proper and improper care of books, the value of books as recreation and entertainment, the use of the library, and other phases of book-reading and care of books.

When Open

The Book Fair will be open Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons from one until six o'clock, and Wednesday morning from nine to twelve. The books, carefully selected by the teachers, will be arranged tastefully in three booths, classified to suit the parents' convenience, as primary; intermediate, and higher grades. There will also be many new books on Child Psychology, and new adult fiction. Expensive and inexpensive books will be shown to suit the pocketbook of the purchaser.

In next week's issue a list of those who are working to make the fair an artistic and financial success, will be given. To lend beauty to the room, pictures by both Mr. and Mrs. Frank Peyraud will cover the walls of the auditorium.

H. P. WOMEN VOTERS MEETING NOV. 25

in the week Mrs. D. M. Blasier or Mrs. Constant C. Hopkins who will gladly call for them. No article is too large or too small, too frivolous or too useful, not to find its place somewhere in some home. Articles for any room in the house, china, glass, books, silver, wearing apparel, jewelry, articles suitable for prizes, all will be welcome. Come, bringing white elephants, if you have them, and leaving with treasures.

The league will entertain as guests at the luncheon, the supervisors of Deerfield township, Mr. William J. Obee, Mr. A. W. Vercoe, Mr. Paul Udell, Mr. William E. Bletsch, Mr. Charles Harbaugh, Mr. William Witten, and Mr. Sam Santi; and the county superintendent of schools, Mr. W. C. Petty. Mr. Obee, chairmen of the board, will lead in the discussion of county affairs, which follows the luncheon, and others of the board will discuss particular phases of its work. The league hopes for a large attendance to learn of a department of government which touches us most closely, and for which we, as voters, are directly responsible.

The following are the official delegates from the Highland Park league to the state convention, meeting Nov. 18 to 21 at the Windemere hotel, Chicago. Mrs. C. C. Hopkins, Mrs. R. P. Sherer, Mrs. I. M. Greenberg, and Mrs. Jay Glidden.

Mrs. Ralph B. Treadway, state president, has honored the Highland Park league by asking its president, Mrs. C. C. Hopkins to preside at the luncheon for local league presidents on Wednesday at the Windemere hotel.
