Girl Scouts Awarded Horsewoman Badge

This mild winter weather may have brought disappointment to the boys and girls whose new skates and sleds and skiing togs are still unused, but to one group of Girl Scouts it has meant the fun of continuing their riding lessons at the Glencoe Riding stables through the holidays, finishing with a cantering lesson last week.

The girls are indebted to the thoughtfulness and interest of Mrs. H. M. Pier in having arranged for this series of riding lessons. They have taken twelve lessons under the personal instruction of Mr. Thomas Chalmers, proprietor of the school, including riding in the ring, cross-country riding, along bridle-paths that do not cross any highways, and instruction on all points of the new requirements for the horsewoman's badge. The girls who have enjoyed these lessons are Mary Lu Sanborn and Donna Jean Udell, troop 6, Marty and Davida Clarke, troop 5, and Joan Pier, troop 3.

All scouts who wish to form riding classes and work upon their horsewoman badge may receive information by calling H. P. 323, the Glencoe Riding stables, or H. P. 1993, Mrs. H. M. Pier.

Girl Scout Sewing Class

Twenty-four Girl Scouts, second class, were on hand Saturday morning at the Presbyterian church to take advantage of the sewing course given to them by the Singer Sewing company, Evanston branch, Mrs. Chandler is the instructor. The girls were instructed in the use of some of the attachments for the machine as well as how to run and operate a Singer sewing machine. Next Saturday morning the girls will begin work on the dresses supplied by the School Children's Aid society of Chicago. These dresses when finished will be turned back to the society for distribution among needy children. The class is full and no more girls may register for this particular class.
