Musical Features

The many friends of Helen Elizabeth Taylor of the Columbia School of Music will welcome this opportunity of hearing her musical program during the afternoon. Caroline Deile whose lovely voice will add much pleasure to the afternoon will sing a group of songs in German composed by Miss Taylor. This year is the 100th anniversary of the birth of Goethe which is being celebrated by all who love his beautiful poems and prose. Miss Taylor is not only a pianist of unusual talent but is also a composer who is acknowledged by musicians of prominence in Chicago as possessing unusual talent and promise. She has set to music Goethe's "He Who Has Yearned Alone" and "The Wanderer's Night. Song" as well as a charming poem "Forget Me Not."

is used for health welfare, protective and settlement house work, but this is used largely to take care of the extra burden which these agencies are carrying this year due to the general situation.

"The regular work of these welfare agencies is always supported by thousands of loyal citizens who are interested in the work which the welfare organizations do. Every social agency in the city must depend on its regular contributors for their usual support.

"The average citizen gives gladly The Army line-up will consist of o'clock at the Y.W.C.A. A very tasty meal to the Joint Emergency Relief Fund. Perhaps he does not realize that all welfare work is not included or that it can wait a few years for better conditions. Unfortunately, babies cannot wait for cod liver oil. In a few years they will be rickety children. Boys and girls do not wait for protection, health, education and wholesome recreation but keep right on growing up into restless, sickly and undesirable citizens if they are not taken care

> Perhaps never in the history of Chicago has there been such urgent need of Infant Welfare care to save Chicago's underprivileged children from present sickness and possible lifelong physical handicaps. Local workers for Infant Welfare feel sure that Highland Park and Ravinia will readily agree with the sentiments expressed by Mr. Ryerson and act accordingly.
