

WHEN

you save food

you save

MONEY

AN electric refrigerator saves food every day. And food saved is money saved. Meats and vegetables that are left over from meals can be safely stored away in your electric refrigerator . . . and served later in the week as delicious as ever. When you have extra milk and cream on hand, there's no danger of its souring over night. When markets feature low prices, you can buy foods in large quantities . . . keep them fresh for a long time. And so it goes. In countless ways an electric refrigerator saves and saves and saves. Nickels, dimes or quarters every day. These savings more than offset the cost of operation . . . they actually help you pay for the model you select. And all the time you are enjoying the priceless convenience of perfect, automatic refrigeration.

Your local REFRIGERATOR DEALER or PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY STORE will be glad to show you the new models and tell you all about the convenient monthly payment terms. Come in.

This spring, several popular refrigerators are being offered at new low prices.

HIGHLAND PARK IS SECOND IN BUILDING

Takes High Rank for January Among Cities of State; Total, $93,260

Eight new buildings totalling in value, according to permits, $93,260, placed under construction in Highland Park during January, have made the north shore city second in construction throughout the entire state including Chicago, according to a survey made public this week.

Building in Highland Park, which during December was in a slight slump, permits for four buildings totalling but $20,600, took a spurt shortly after the first of the year, placing the total amount of construction at a figure close to $100,000, and making the average of the eight buildings more than $11,650 each whereas in Chicago where 210 permits for new buildings were issued, the average was but $2,500.

Conditions in the building industry in Highland Park have made a decided change since January, 1931, when but three building permits totalling $5,400 were issued. Building in Waukegan took a heavy slump during January, five permits for a total of $10,150 being issued, whereas a year ago 16 permits totalling $50,530 were issued. Waukegan was listed as twelfth throughout the state for the month of January.

Other cities throughout the state ranking among the first twelve communities in building operations during January were: Peoria, Springfield, Rockford, East St. Louis, Evanston, Lake Forest, River Forest, Alton and Joliet.

Should Keep Pauper Relief Funds Apart, Carlstrom Declares

Townships should keep funds for pauper relief separate from other township funds, Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom today informed State's Attorney Robert R. Humphrey of Lincoln, in an opinion.

In the opinion Carlstrom called attention to the fact that "it is pertinent to suggest that a separate fund will not relieve the town from further support when such fund is exhausted."

"Townships may adopt rules and by laws for the conduct of the supervisors in taking care of the paupers, and if this is done, such rules should be observed." Carlstrom's opinion read. "But if no rules have been adopted, the supervisor may follow one of two courses—order and pay for necessaries and then submit what he has done to the board for audit and payment, or order necessaries and submit the bill for payment."

Regarding medical service for pauper, the opinion said there was "no statute which empowers anyone except the supervisor or overseer of the poor to employ physicians in connection with pauper relief. Of course, in emergency cases any physician, upon request of anyone, who renders service to a pauper is entitled to be paid."

Seven Main Buildings For World Fair Ready

Seven of the major buildings at the Century of Progress, Chicago's World Fair in 1933, have been finished or are well on the road to completion. Within a few weeks, construction of more than $4,500,000 of additional buildings will be started. Forty states have either made appropriations for their exhibits or appointed commissions to negotiate for display spaces.
