North Shore Man Is Candidate for Congressman at Large

"What a man is, is all that man has to say as a candidate for public office," declares Carl H. Zeiss, candidate for the Republican nomination for Congressman-at-large from Illinois.

Mr. Zeiss, a resident of Winnetka and member of the law firm of Kelly, Pratt and Zeiss, Chicago, is campaigning for support of the electorate of the state in what his backers term "the novel grounds that here is a man who is conspicuous among political candidates by reason of the fact that year after year he has been 'minding his own business'!"

"If you want to know something about a candidate for public office," says Mr. Zeiss, "then turn the searchlight on his professional and personal life. The two are not, never can be separated. What a man may profess to believe in the heat of a political campaign is one thing. What he professes does not always jibe with the works of his daily life. Good principles are not just picked out of the air and printed on cards and posters. They are the structure upon which character is reared, whatever that character may be."
