

Why the Banks and the People Should Work Together

Life as we live it today could not exist without banks.

Think of trying to carry on trade on a man to man, hard cash basis! There would be no checks, no currency to speak of, and none of the convenient forms of paper credit on which we depend today

Men and women would have to carry heavy cash around at the risk of their lives. Business could not be conducted without bulky shipments of gold and silver, with guns and men to guard them.

One of a series of messages published to promote better understanding between banks and the public sponsored by
ILLINOIS BANKERS ASSOCIATION
33 N. LA SALLE STREET - CHICAGO

Without banks the commercial world would slow down to the ox-cart pace of a thousand years ago. Few of the inventions, luxuries, enjoyments and accomplishments of our present-day civilization would exist.

The banks of today serve mankind. Banks provide the facilities by which manufacturers buy raw material and employ labor; they enable merchants to buy goods and sell them to the public; they benefit the farmer, the wage-earner and every individual. Employment of people and the life of business depend upon the banks.

The banks and the people should work together.
