

DEERFIELD HIGH IS ACCREDITED SCHOOL

the requirements for graduation, instruction and spirit, salaries of teachers, the training and preparation of teachers, the teaching load, pupil loads, and the school's program with reference to physical education and to its athletic relationship with other high schools as determined by the State Athletic association.

The North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools is an accrediting agency comprising twenty states and is the largest regional accrediting agency in the United States. The object of the association is to establish closer relations between the secondary schools and the institutions of higher education within the north central states and in such other territory as the North Central association may recognize. All decisions of the association bearing on the policies and management of secondary schools and institutions of higher education are understood to be advisory in their character. The accrediting of schools by the North Central association is a cooperative undertaking. Membership in this association is purely voluntary. It must be the desire of the local authorities of a high school to have the school accredited by the association.

Advantages that high schools realize as a result of being accredited by the North Central association can be summarized as follows:

Advantages

1. The graduates of an accredited high school are privileged to enter institutions of higher education within the north central states without entrance examinations, provided that they have credits in the high school subjects required by the college or university for admission. Since other accrediting agencies recognize schools accredited by the North Central association, this privilege of entering institutions of higher education without examination is extended practically throughout the United States.

2. The graduates of accredited high schools have the assurance that their high school diplomas will be acceptable to state boards having to do with the granting of certificates for the various professions of medicine, dentistry, law, etc. In states requiring graduation from approved high schools as a prerequisite to the obtaining of a teaching certificate, the graduates of schools accredited by the North Central association meet the requirements of such a law.

3. A high school approved by the North Central association must maintain high standards and consequently the community is assured of a program of modern high school education.

4. The examination of the school at regular intervals by inspectors and supervisors serves to stimulate progress and to prevent the development of questionable practices and tendencies.

5. A high school accredited by the North Central association enjoys a greater prestige in the surrounding country and therefore finds it easier to attract non-resident pupils.

6. The patrons have more confidence in, and are generally more willing to support, an accredited high school.

Library Adds Books on American Negro

Some very fine books on the life of the American Negro have been added recently to the Deerfield public library. "Brown America" by Edgar Embree, one of the officials in the Julius Rosenwald fund for Negroes contains an excellent picture of their lives in all phases of literature, art and music. Another book, which is of interest is "Life and Labor Up to 1861" Julia Peterkin's latest novel "Bright Skin"; Countee Cullum's novel, "Caroling Dusk"; and Calverton's "Mythology of Negro Literature" will be a pleasure for lovers of Negro literature.
