

LUNCHEON SERIES GIVE EMPLOYMENT

Splendid Results from Plan of
Mrs. Erastus Phelps: Fine
Program Given

Ida May Cameron, Lyric Soprano

The series of luncheons and dinners which Mrs. Erastus R. Phelps of Prospect avenue has been giving to provide employment have proved a great success. Fifty guests have been invited to each one and have paid a nominal amount for their luncheons and entertainment. The food sale has clearly shown that people do enjoy good home-made cakes, pies, cookies, salads, and so forth. The list of names and addresses of the people sending the food for the sale has been a means of bringing orders to many women. Checks have been given to 14 to 18 people each time for amounts varying from $1.25 to $9, and aggregating $70 to $75.

Delightful Program

A delightful program was presented after the luncheon last Thursday by Ida May Cameron and Olga Sandor. These artists are well known to music lovers. Olga Sandor is a wonderful accompanist, but her piano solos and organ work are equally appreciated. Miss Cameron has a charming lyric soprano voice and gives many of her numbers in appropriate costumes of the various countries. She made a stunning picture in a Spanish dress with lace mantilla when she sang her last group of songs so delightfully in Spanish.

BAL MUSETTE TO BE HELD ON SEPT. 3RD

Annual Open-Air Revelry at Ravinia Being Planned;
Many Features

Tradition on the North Shore, many years of it and almost as old as the village of Ravinia, is the annual Bal Musette participated in riotous fashion by all the villagers and their friends under the trees and stars of a summer night with care and caste blown to the winds.

Just as in medieval France when all the populace would dance in the street preceding the performances of the Old Morality Plays so Raviniaites will dance the night away in costumes gay before the return to winter work.

Gypsy Affair

This year's "bal" is to be a gypsy affair, and all who do not come in costume will be charged an extra fee of admission. For participants the fee is small this year, less than half of what it has ever been before. The date is Saturday evening, Sept. 3rd.

The music will begin at seven-thirty for the children's parade, the costume prizes, and there are many of them, will be awarded for the youngsters at once and they may dance until nine, or roast marsh-

Social Service

The children's fund of Social Service has some more reports for you. Thank you, children, for your gifts. They are helping, and Social Service is grateful for the help and the spirit that inspires it.

Susanne and Mary Lou McCormick, 920 S. Sheridan road, sent in 60 cents. It bought a 25 cent breakfast for a hungry man, and a dozen oranges and half a pound of bacon for some undernourished children.

Jeanette Oppenheimer, Rosemary Schiff and Patsy Fimm sent 7 cans of canned goods and a package of jello. These were divided between two families,—one a widow under thirty, the only support of four children, the other a family of father, mother and four children. The father has a crippled hand and has been out of work. This family, until two years ago, lived in one house eight years, and paid the rent and all their bills. This week they were evicted from the house they have been occupying—solely because of unemployment.

Billy Adams, 32 Brittany road, sent in 50 cents, and says he wishes it used for the man who is building his little house on Deerfield road.

Some children's clothes have been brought in this week but more are needed for the coming school days; boys' clothing especially needed. Other needs are

- A baby pen
- A baby carriage
- Mason jars
- Washing machine.
