

ROTARY CLUB HAS MEETING MONDAY

spend two weeks this summer with governors of Rotary districts from all parts of the world. When we heard these men from Cuba, Mexico, South America, South Africa, Australia, Japan, China, India and European countries tell of bankruptcy, destitution and crime, with industry and commerce at a standstill, we could but conclude that Columbus must have been wrong—the world is flat! So I have returned to our Illinois less inclined to complain and more determined to buckle down and do my share in the readjustment we all must make. We are living on top of the world and have much to be thankful for even though it may be hard to understand.

Traveling Uncharted Seas

We are traveling uncharted seas today. The results of the World war, the development of communication and transportation and other achievements of science have created problems that have never before been faced by mankind. These problems are a challenge to our greatest minds and will require close co-operation if they are to be solved.

I do not believe that an enduring peace will ever come through fear of a stronger nation or group of nations. Only as we are willing to grant to each other the rights which belong to each as individuals and as nations and in the true spirit of friendliness can we hope to arrive at a peaceful solution. These are common problems—the problems of humanity. The contribution of Rotary toward their solution is through friendly contacts among business and professional men.

Depression may take some of the things we have held dear but there is one thing it can never take away and that is the inner consciousness of true friendships.

COMMERCE CHAMBER MONTHLY MEETING

ilar plan, and that a final report be presented at the October meeting. Albert Larson made a preliminary report as to his committee's investigation of the common carrier situation with the city council. Due to vacation time, a second meeting with the council could not be secured. Chairman Larson, however, stated his committee promised a thorough analysis and a final report at the coming meeting. President Kelley brought up the question of the created Illinois emergency issue being presented to the voters of this state at the coming fall election. The importance of the passage of this bond issue was impressed upon the membership and upon motion of E. M. Knox, seconded and carried, this problem is to be again presented at the October meeting to act as a reminder to the members.
