Now that the heroes do all the things the villains used to do, the villain racket is getting pretty tough.

Something that ought to be good news in Chicago is that the American Theatre Society, which is a merger of the Theatre Guild and the Drama League, and according to authorities (which may mean everybody or nobody) it is Chicago's only hope for regular high grade dramatics. It is something new, and something people ought to patronize. Probably the most exciting and something historic for Chicago, part of the whole thing right now is that they are bringing Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontaine to Chicago in their next show "Reunion in Vienna." "Whistling in the Dark" the society's opening show, is now playing at the Erlanger.

The fly gallery is not something higher than the "Peanut Gallery," as some people seem to believe. It is that balcony backstage to which the ropes holding the drops, ceilings, borders, etc., are tied, and is usually the place where the curtain pullers nod during the show.

The Winnetka Drama club are opening their season with "The Copperhead," a Civil War Drama.

Our own Ravinia Players' opening show will be "Rebound" by Donald Ogden Stewart, on Nov. 11, in the Ravinia village house, and on Nov. 12 in the Highland Park Woman's club. This is the first of five performances to be given by the Players. The Ravinia Players are anxious to have you write in to Box 99 with suggestions of what plays you would like to see. As a community group they are anxious to please the community.

The Ravinia Players are fortunate in having as assistant director, Mrs. Robert Enos, who hails from the Columbia school in New York, and has worked with both the Cleveland Playhouse and the Detroit Community Players. Her energy and ambition only increase with her years (there are over seventy of them) and the younger members of the Players find it all they can do to keep up with the pace she sets.

Only fifty percent of the show goes on behind the footlights, the other fifty is the audience. If they fail to come, the show fails; if they do come and don't clap, the show fails; if they do come and do clap but don't talk about it, the show fails; and if they do come and do talk about it, the show has almost an even chance to make expenses, if nothing else happens.

Rumors from Deerfield have it that the Deerfield Civic Players will shortly issue a call for tryouts for their forthcoming production, the name and date of showing not yet announced. It is said that two or three shows will be presented this winter which will be staged under sponsorship of the Deerfield American Legion Post and the Deerfield American Legion Auxiliary.

In Chicago: The World Between,

Adelphi.

A play by Fritzi Bloki, that depends upon your imagination for its success. It tells by means of a lovely romance on an old pirate ship held fast for two centuries in the Sargasso Sea, that our lives must be worked out as fully as possible as mortals, and that we continue to work out our problems where we left off, in The World Between. It is well worth seeing and thinking about.

The juveniles, David Scott and Elizabeth Day carry off simple honors through their simple and touching love affair. DeWolf Hopper handles the part of Sir Henry with success, but Frank Shannon as Captain Cutlass gives the more winning performance. Herbert Benze Norton as Moody, and Jack Marco as Benito are splendid characters.

The show is altogether wholesome, and the adventure of it would appeal to everybody. It commands your emotions in an entirely new way and shows a definite trend toward better drama in Chicago. You will remember this play for a long time. Curtain!

Bandits Raid Home of Bannockburn Builder; Plunder Totals $4,870

Taking oriental rugs, fur coats and jewelry valued at $4,870, burglars early Wednesday afternoon of last week stripped the home of William Akins of Bannockburn, near here.

Akins and his family were absent and placed the time of burglary between 1:45 and 5:15 o'clock.

Entry was gained by smashing through a small French door.

Akins developed Bannockburn, building most of the pretentious homes in the exclusive village, which was the youngest incorporation in the county until Williams Park was organized as a village during the summer.

The lot, as listed by Sheriff Lester T. Tiffany, was as follows, according to the News-Sun:

Two Chinese Oriental rugs 9x12, $600; one 6x9 Oriental, $125; three Persian rugs (6x9), $600; five Chinese Blue Tone rugs (3x6), $250; one black seal skin coat, $600; one Mink coat, $1,800; string of matched pearls, $200; one three and one-half karat diamond ring, $750; and a purse containing $45.

Three dresses, two pairs of silk hose, underwear and night dresses were included but the value was not listed by Akins, according to Deputy Sheriffs John Sweeney and Stanley Stadfeld.

The home was left untouched by Akins and the deputies who hope to get finger prints in the place.

The sheriff was informed that a car had been seen in the neighborhood for several days and the license number was supplied.
