First of Indoor Playdays Saturday

On Saturday, October 5, the first of the Indoor Playdays sponsored by the Y.W.C.A. for children between the ages of six and fourteen will be held at the Y.W.C.A. These Playdays are a continuation of the Outdoor Playdays which have been held during the month of October in Sunset park, and will be conducted along the same lines and directed by practically the same group of instructors, but will be at the Y.W.C.A. This building is a more than adequate place for these programs, having two large play-rooms for games and dancing and a space for outdoor play.

The morning will be devoted to swimming at the high school pool. However, the Y.W. is working in co-operation with the Highland Park library, and those children who do not go swimming will have Story Hour at the library from 10:30 to 11:30. After picnic luncheon at the Y, the afternoon will be given over to interest groups in organized play and group athletics, handcraft, dramatics, and tap-dancing or interpretative dancing.

Closing get-together, from 3 to 4 o'clock will be a time for singing, presentation of play, treasure hunts, marshmallow roasts, and coasting, if the weather permits.

The group of children attending these playdays will, of necessity, be a small one, since the purpose is to give a well supervised program of constructive recreation. For this reason children must register at the Y.W.C.A. by Friday, October 4.

There is a small charge for the twelve weeks course which will cover cost of instruction and will include one hot dish which the "Y" will furnish each noon.

Offers Fine Tribute to Republican Party

The following tribute to the Republican party is contributed by Dr. W. J. Shedd, 47 S. St. Johns avenue:

"The Republican party—its memories are too sacred, its principles are too righteous and too enduring, its achievements are too inspiring and too lasting, its record is too grand, its need to the country is too great, its leadership and its membership are too patriotic and too filled with hope for the country, for it to be destroyed by the assaults of its enemies from without or within."

The above story is being reprinted this week because of an error which lost the value of the article
