

County Money Taken in Mail Holdup in the Loop Last Week

Included in the $500,000 loot taken Wednesday of last week in the loop mail robbery in Chicago, was $7,000 of Lake county treasury money in transit to a Chicago bank. The county will not lose, as the money was in the hands of postal employes and the federal government is responsible for the loss.

The five gunmen who made the haul are being sought throughout the country by federal detectives. The robbery was staged across the street from the First National bank in Chicago, where the pouches of cheeks were being delivered. The robbery was one of the most daring ever pulled in the Chicago district, and was staged during the noon rush in one of the busiest sections of the loop.

It may be that Japan's main trouble is that she didn't play a sufficiently painful part in the last World War. —Arkansas Gazette.

"Too many bridge players," says an expert, "do not take their bridge seriously enough." Yes, lots of 'em play it as though it were a game or something. —Southern Lumberman.

MERRY CHRISTMAS
December is the month for remembering back to the days when we were children; for recapturing the glow and the aroma of those Christmases to brighten and deepen the spirit we pass on to make Christmas of today lovely to the children about us. Do you remember the part that books played in these past Christmases? They may have been few, but how much they meant, from the Christmas morning when they were unwrapped and the leaves first turned with anticipatory delight to the time, long after, when well-worn they stood as tried and trusted friends on the shelf of your own library. Give good books to the children you know this year; there is nothing more to be loved, or more in influence on growth and happiness, than Good Books.

Gift Books
The following new titles are suggested by the library staff as suitable gift books for Christmas:
Goodly Heritage, by M. E. Chase.
Just the Other Day, by John Collier. An English Only Yesterday.
Buying Happiness, by E. J. Goodspeed.

You'll agree... they give more real, lasting fun than any other gift of the same price. The new Ciné-Kodak Eight costs only $29.50 and cuts operating expense almost two-thirds. By all means look it over.

Whether the common cold is caused by pneumococcus, streptococcus, Friedlaender's bacillus, city dust, or women's face powder, the fact remains that noses run, eyes are congested, and dispositions practically ruined at least three times a year for the average United States citizen.

An article which is attracting a great deal of lay attention on this subject appears in the October number of the magazine, Fortune. In an attempt to combat the cold virus which is a real economic menace, the Metropolitan Life spends 174,000, Dr. Dochez maintains eight chimpanzees, and the New York Telephone company vaccinates 1,000 employees a year.

But with all the attempts to isolate and control the cold germ, the medical profession is very little nearer a solution of the problem than was the old English physician who answered when asked what he did for a cold, "I use two dozen soft linen handkerchiefs."

Today, as 100 years ago, it is still true that an untreated cold hangs on for fourteen days, while a treated cold can be cured in two weeks!

Winter Gardens
All summer long there was an enthusiastic demand for all kinds of books and magazine articles in the library which gave information on the construction and planting of garden pools. Gardens were important factors of summer living.

Now in these crisp fall days the summer gardener is loathe to abandon the charm of his garden and wants to bring it indoors with him. Interest is centering on ideas and suggestions for window gardens. What kinds of plants grow best in the house? How about their planting and care?

The art collection has a number of helpful books on these questions and much has been written on the whole subject in such magazines as House and Garden and Home Beautiful. Back unbound numbers of these may be borrowed on a card. Some very interesting suggestions will be found in a curious little book by Patten Beard called Adventuring in Dish Gardening.

A new book by J. L. Kift, Success with Houseplants, is a brief, illustrated guide for amateurs which describes common plants and bulbs suitable for indoor cultivation, with directions for their care.
