

Next Week's Program at Alcyon Theatre

Christmas cheer is in store for the movie fans attending the Alcyon during the coming week. "Red Dust" featuring Jean Harlow, Clark Gable, Mary Astor and Gene Raymond will have its final showing tonight. For Friday and Saturday the picturization of "The Phantom of Crestwood," famous radio mystery, with Ricardo Cortez, and Karen Morley, will be shown. At the Saturday matinee each child attending will receive a Christmas gift from the management.

On Sunday only, Christmas day, the well known satire, "Once in a Lifetime" will be the feature. Jack Oakie and Sidney Fox. "Washington Merry Go Round" is the attraction for Monday and Tuesday. On Monday performances will be continuous as it is a holiday.

Warner Baxter and John Boles have many admirers and with both of these favorites in one film there should be abundance of romance in "6 Hours to Live" on Wednesday and Thursday. Paramount gathered almost all the big important stars of the radio and cast them into a grand entertainment called "The Big Broadcast." Kate Smith, Stuart Erwin, Leila Hyams, Bing Crosby, Boswell Sisters, Arthur Tracy, Vincent Lopez and Cab Calloway are only a few of the luminaries appearing therein. "The Big Broadcast" plays at the Alcyon Friday and Saturday, Dec. 30-31.

If there is someone for whom you have not been able to select a suitable Christmas gift, Johnny Jones suggests coupon books of theatre tickets which are on sale at the Alcyon.
