

Local and Personal of Deerfield

Mr. and Mrs. William Cruickshank and children were Christmas day guests at the E. H. Evanson home in Chicago.

Miss Margaret Ludlow of Chicago was the guest of her niece, Mrs. Martha C. Love this past week.

Robert Pfister returned from the south to spend the holidays with his mother, Mrs. Molly Carolan Pfister.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy M. Miller had as their Christmas dinner guests Mr. and Mrs. John Kubick and daughter Shirley of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Witt and Misses Sue and Martha Witt.

Misses Margaret and Florence Carolan spent Christmas day with their sister, Mrs. Molly Pfister of North Chestnut street.

Mrs. M. C. Love and two daughters Mrs. Berry Devine and Mildred Love Gunckel and Miss Margaret Ludlow were Christmas day guests at the home of Mrs. Julia A. Seyl of West Lake Forest.

Christmas greetings have been received from Mr. and Mrs. Matthew S. Anderson of Northbrook. Mrs. Anderson is the former Mrs. Frances Flood Garrity and was for years manager of the Deerfield department of the Illinois Bell Telephone company.

A Chrysler automobile, license number 290-307 Illinois, said to belong to a Ravinia resident, crashed into a tree on the George Karch property Friday evening. The glass was smashed, engine rammed and steering wheel and gear wrecked. Despite the severe crash the occupant received only cuts over one eye. Fortunately the accident occurred directly across from Dr. Davis' home.

An interesting piece of news contained in the Independent Register column headed "Here and there in 1897, 35 years ago this week" is as follows: "Shermerville. The chivari following the wedding of James Macadie to Miss Florence Hatch was a decided success. The boys were presented with a ten dollar bill which was spent the same evening."

Mr. and Mrs. James Macadie now reside in Chicago. They are the parents of Mrs. Ralph Peterson of Knollwood road, Deerfield. The Macadies lived in the Presbyterian manse for several years.

Leading Lady in Ed Wynn's Show Weds in This City Last Week

Miss Elsa Ersi, leading lady for Ed Wynn in "The Laugh Parade," playing in a Chicago theatre, was married Tuesday of last week in Highland Park. Announcement of the marriage was not made until last Saturday.

Miss Ersi and Walter R. Faddis, of New York, were married at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander R. Carqueville, 176 Laurel avenue, by the Rev. S. J. Brown, of Troy, N. Y.

Miss Ersi, who is the daughter of a titled Hungarian, has played in the Ziegfeld Follies, with Leon Errol in "Louis XIV," and as a vaudeville headliner before joining the Wynn show.

Mr. Faddis is a graduate of Brown university, Providence, R. I., and is associated with the Caldwell-Wingate Construction company, New York, of which his father, Walter S. Faddis, is president. Mrs. Faddis, it is said, will continue her stage career.

George Rossetter Will Be President of Civic Body Again

George W. Rossetter, of 868 Lincoln avenue, Highland Park, was nominated Wednesday night of last week to succeed himself as president of the Chicago Association of Commerce. The election of the trade and civic group will occur at its annual meeting late in January.

Mr. Rossetter, who heads the firm of accountants bearing his name with offices in Chicago and in New York, is the fifth leader of the Chicago Association of Commerce to serve more than one term since the organization was founded 28 years ago. His nomination last week is declared by his associates a tribute to the national leadership he has given to the drive to curtail government costs and assure lower and more equitable taxes.

Three residents of Lake Forest were chosen to serve with Mr. Rossetter, and are as follows: James B. Forgan, Jr., vice-president; Lawrence P. Robbins, general treasurer, and Harold C. Smith, director.
