Y.W.C.A. to Be Scene
of Exhibition Ping
Pong Games Tuesday

Two exhibition ping-pong matches, one between Robert E. Clark and D. A. Kittermaster, the other between Mrs. Ruth Meyer and Mrs. Catherine Hammond, will be played at the Y. W. C. A. on Tuesday, Jan. 24, at 8 o'clock. Mr. Clark will also talk on strokes and foot-work.

This is the opening of a series of ping-pong matches and tournaments which will be held at the Y. W. this year. The game room will be open to the public for ping-pong on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, and special games will be scheduled for Fridays. An effort is being made to encourage the game in Highland Park and to provide some place where local players may meet. At the "Y," players will have an opportunity to keep in practice and also find competition. There will be a class for beginners and less experienced players who wish helpful pointers on the game.

Mr. Kittermaster, Mr. Clark, Mrs. Meyer and Mrs. Hammond played in the finals of the Lake County tournament recently, Mr. Kittermaster and Mrs. Hammond being the champions. Mrs. Meyer is the holder of the Lake Forest woman's championship of 1932, and she and Mrs. Hammond are members of the North Shore ping-pong team, which is comprised of six members.

Mr. Clark is prominent not only as a local player, but in larger circles, and is president of the Western Ping Pong association.

The public is cordially invited to attend the matches on Tuesday evening. There will be no admission charge. Owing to the limited space children will not be admitted.

"If I were a young man today"

Says MARK W. CRESAP
Chairman of Board of Directors
Hart Schaffner & Marx

"I would spend at least one or two evenings a week in university courses, learning the fundamental principles of modern business."

Some 5,000 ambitious young business men and women are this year devoting one or more evenings each week to university courses in the Northwestern University School of Commerce. They are preparing themselves for advancement and promotion.

You should investigate the possibilities open to you in these evening courses.

A request made by mail or telephone to the Educational Adviser Superior 4500 - will bring you bulletin describing courses offered in spring term.

Registration opens January 28
