

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

WOMAN REPORTER WILL TALK IN NEXT SCHOOL ASSEMBLY

The "Urge to Write" will be the subject of a talk by Mary Dickerson Donahay, one of the early women reporters, before the students in the assembly of Friday, March 10.

Miss Donahay was one of the early women reporters, entering the New York newspaper field when it was a daring and unheard of thing for a girl to do.

Mrs. Donahay has seventeen books to her credit. One of her late books, "The Spanish McQuades," was inspired by a recent trip to Yucatan.

Her new book, "Mysterious Mansions," is just off the press, having been published by Doubleday, Doran and Company on September 21, 1932.

Mrs. Donahay's experience in the writing "game," her splendid humanness, especially fits her to talk to young people who are interested in writing, according to an announcement of the High School Assembly association.

Mrs. Donahay is a practical writer—she knows what to write—and she knows how to sell what she has written, the announcement points out.

CAPS AND GOWNS ARE CHOSEN BY SENIORS IN SESSION VOTING

For the purpose of attaining uniformity in graduation dress for the senior class of this year, the senior class by a vote of 121-68 voted in favor of caps and gowns in an election held last Monday, February 20.

The use of caps and gowns was suggested primarily for economical reasons. It is also thought that the uniformity of the costumes will add greater formality to the occasion.

The gowns are a slate gray color, and the caps match them. The girls' gowns have small white collars on them, while the boys have no trimming whatsoever.

The orders will be taken sometime in the future and they will be fitted by someone who will be sent out to the school to take gown measurements.

The senior class hopes that in introducing this costume, which is entirely new to Deerfield-Shields that it will be carried out in the following years.

COMMITTEE MAKES FINAL SELECTIONS FOR SENIOR CAST

REHEARSALS BEGIN

Changes in Cast May Be Made As Rehearsals Progress

With all of the characters chosen, rehearsals for the senior play are now under way. They will take place after school every day in the auditorium from 3:30 to 5 o'clock, with the probable exception of Fridays.

The play is "The Royal Family," by George Kaufman and Edna Ferber. It consists of three acts dealing with the life of the Cavendishes, a theatrical family. The scenes take place in a comfortable apartment in New York.

The important part of Fanny Cavendish is to be played by Helen Jean Abercromby. In the story Fanny maintains that she is fully qualified to take part in plays, although she is a grandmother and is 72 years old.

Irene Klemperer will take the part of Julia, the daughter of Fanny. She has been married once, divorced, and is now in love with Gilbert Marshall. Gil, who will be played by Bob Brown, has just returned from the diamond mines in Africa to see Julia after a 10 years absence.

Gwen, the daughter of Julia, is about nineteen years old and her part is to be played by Janet Leonard. She is in love with Perry Stewart, a young man of high social position from Long Island, whose part is to be taken by Lincoln Clark.

Joe Daly is to play the part of Tony Cavendish, a brother to Julia. During the play he suddenly breaks in on the family and explains that he has just had trouble with his producer in Hollywood and is being pursued.

The role of Herbert Dean, a writer of plays, is to be taken by Jack Whalen. He has great difficulty in keeping his wife, whose stage name is Kitty Le Moyne, out of his play.

Jean Brand is to be Della, a very efficient maid in the Cavendish household. She is aided by Jo, another house servant, to be played by Lawrence Freeman.

Hubert Lidicker will take the part of a hallboy. The part of Gonga, an Indian slave, is to be taken by John Sorsen.

Eddy Cazal is to take the role of McDermott, an ex-prize fighter whose chief job is to box with Julia and keep her in physical trim. The part of a chauffeur is yet unchosen.

In order to remain in the play all of the students must have and maintain an average of "C." Students have been known to drop out because of their grades only a week before the production takes place.

FORMER STUDENT IN PLAY AT ROCKFORD COLLEGE

Miss Virginia Grant, Deerfield-Shields student, played one of the leading roles in the sophomore class play at Rockford College, Rockford, Illinois, where she is a student. The play was the English comedy "Caste," by Tom Robertson. It was given on both February 17 and 18.

Miss Grant played the role of the "Marquise de St. Maur," a haughty, aristocratic, English lady. This part required considerable skill and interpretation.

A novel feature of this play was its presentation on two nights with an entirely different cast for each night. This idea was carried out to promote friendly competition on the part of the characters and to allow a larger number of students to take part than would otherwise have been possible.

The costumes used in the play were copies of latter nineteenth century dress. The stage settings and properties were designed by the students.

MAJORITY OF GRADUATES ARE FROM ELM PLACE

WILLIAM TRUMBULL IS VALEDICTORIAN OF CLASS OF 1933

ROBBIE SCHNEIDER NEXT Senior Class Members Rated Scholastically on List By Mr. Pertz

William Trumbull, having attained the highest scholastic average, will be valedictorian for the graduating class of June 1933, and Robbie Lou Schneider, attaining second place scholastically, will be salutatorian, according to the complete senior class rating compiled by Mr. Pertz, school statistician.

Automatically Awarded The valedictorian and salutatorian honors are automatically awarded to the first and second highest rating students of the senior class. William has received an "A" in every subject attempted in the past six semesters, completing his high school course in three and one-half years with a rating of 24.4 "A's." He is a member of Mr. Platt's session and son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald S. Trumbull, 610 N. Sheridan road, Highland Park.

"Bill" is a graduate of Elm Place grammar school and entered Deerfield-Shields in February, 1930.

Every semester he has carried at least four solids, including three years of Latin. Among his other solids he took two years of French and three years of mathematics. As his school activities he chose swimming, public speaking, and golf. He also held the position of chief councilor last semester.

Robbie Lou Schneider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schneider, 990 N. Green Bay road, entered high school in the summer of 1929, also as a graduate of Elm Place grammar school. She holds the record of having no absences or tardinesses throughout her grammar school and high school career. She has thirty-eight credits at present and her rating is 27.8 "A's."

Robbie Lou in her four years at Deerfield-Shields has been in the Glee club, and as her major subjects took four years of Latin, four years of mathematics, and three years of French.

Evaluating Points Having evaluated all of the senior grades numerically, Mr. Pertz rated the 239 students of the class of 1933, of which 231 took academic subjects and 8 took vocational.

The grades for rating are in the following five classes: An "A" in the x group, the fastest moving, gives 4.7. An "A" in the y group, the intermediate, gives 3.4; an "A" in the z group, slow moving, receives 2.2. An "A" in the x and y group, consisting of all languages, all Latin below x group, all higher math in junior and senior years, physics, chemistry, stenography, ancient history, American history and economics receives 4.5. All other classes are subjects in the unsectional group and an "A" in this group receives 4.3. The other marks in these classes range proportionately.

The students who took the harder subjects gets a greater number of points than the students who took the easier subjects, even though they may, both obtain the same grades.

The fifteen highest ranking seniors are in the order as follows: William Trumbull, Robbie Lou Schneider, Mary Belfield, Jean Klemperer, Mary Lankford, Doris Hunter, Caroline Hofflander, Hubert Lidicker, Beatrice Hall, George Titman, Joan Dexter, Elinor Steele, Albert Cox, Roderic Smith, and Dor-

MISS ADAH GRANDY WILL BE SPEAKER ON PROGRAM FRIDAY

"The Value of English Composition and Literature" will be the topic of Miss Adah Grandy's talk which will be given in the assembly Friday, March 3. Miss Grandy was former head of the English department of Deerfield-Shields, and is now a member of the faculty at the University of Minnesota.

Having charge of the English department, Miss Grandy was eight years on the faculty of Deerfield-Shields. She came to Deerfield in 1910 from Sioux City, Iowa, where she had been a member of the faculty in the Sioux City high school.

Miss Grandy proved very popular among the students and was interested in all the affairs of the high school. Miss Grandy also took a very important part in the extra curricular activities of the school.

As a part of her English work, Miss Grandy emphasized public speaking in her third year classes, and one year sponsored a series of debates in her classes which were attended by outsiders.

Deerfield's war picture film, taken while Mrs. Grandy was here, shows the students of her home room helping to do their share during the war.

Miss Grandy left Deerfield in 1918 to take a place on the faculty at the University of Minnesota.

Because of her work with college freshmen, Miss Grandy will also aid students, especially seniors, with the problems of preparation for college.

The English teachers are urged to reserve Friday afternoon, March 3, for a meeting when Miss Grandy will talk on "The University Point of View" and will answer all questions pertaining to such.
