

HIGHLAND PARK PUBLIC LIBRARY
HIGHLAND PARK ILLINOIS

Comfort at the Library
The next time you find yourself nearly exhausted with the heat and wondering how best to gain a little comfort, try visiting the public library. Quite often we've been told, "My! this is the coolest place I've found yet!" Even on the hottest days the library manages to be several degrees cooler than the outdoors. You will find the quiet and coolness of the library combine in making a comfortable place in which to read and forget the heat.

War Debts
Perhaps you are one of those people who are very much confused as you read about the question of war debts. Or maybe you are one who has despaired of even trying to understand the complicated phases of the subject. If so, you will surely welcome then an article in the Saturday Evening Post for June 24th. It is entitled "War Debt Questions and Answers" and is written by William C. Murphy Jr. Here you will find a very complete and informing discussion of war debts as well as all the little ins and outs of the matter which can be so puzzling. The question and answer form make for clearness and conciseness. If you wish to pursue the question further some additional magazine articles are suggested below:

"Debt-Barrier to Recovery," by Evans Clark; Survey Graphic; June.
"America's Official Point of View on the Debts," by M. Sullivan; Saturday Evening Post; May 13.
"Public Debts, Federal, State and Local," by G. B. Galloway and W. Kilpatrick; Survey; June.
"Settling War Debts with Patriotic Vacations, Lehman Plan; Literary Digest; May 6.
"Washington Notes, War Debts Over the White House; New Republic; May 24.

The Library As Teacher
There is only one solution of all social problems—increased intelligence and sympathy. To this end newspapers, schools, and pulpits are useful. But these are all limited in their speech. Politics, personal considerations, undue or misplaced conservatism—these make limitations. The public library is the broadest of teachers, one may say the only free teacher. It is the most liberal of schools; it is the only real people's college. It can freely tell all known facts about any question. It begins with the youngest, and when a man is old, it is still able and willing to instruct him. It answers fairly all who want to know.

Vocations in Fiction
Lawyer
"For Country," by Winston Churchill—An account of the career of Hugh Paret, a young lawyer with big ideals who gradually succumbs to the demands of big business and wanders into the far country of lost ideals and compromise.
"Silas Bradford's Boy," by Joseph C. Lincoln—Bent Bradford returns home to Cape Cod from law school to establish himself in business. He is met everywhere by a veiled opposition which is not removed until he learns the secret connected with his father's death.
Honorable Peter Stirling, by Paul L. Ford—Although written long ago this story is still one of the best novels of law and municipal politics. Contrary to the usual idea, Peter has high ideals of service which he maintains throughout.

Page 'Mr. Tutt, by Arthur C. Train—Nine "Tutt" stories in which the lawyer, Mr. Tutt, beats the trickster at his own game every time. Highly amusing and ingenious. Very good background for anyone aspiring to law. The library has three more volumes of stories about Mr. Tutt, the lawyer.
Physician
Country Doctor, by Sarah O. Jewett—The delightful story of a New England country doctor and his gifted ward who decided to depart from the accepted home life of the women of her day and follow in his footsteps. An inspiring picture of the beloved physician skillful and alert to advances in professional knowledge, but above all a teacher, minister, and father confessor.
Doctor Serocold, by Helen R. Jordan—A fascinating tale of ten visits paid by Doctor Serocold on October 18, 1929. The intimate details of a doctor's life are exposed, showing the hardships as well as the rewards.

White Fawn, by Olive H. Prouty—This light romance of a young Irish doctor and the daughter of an aristocratic Boston family may interest the youth who is thinking of studying medicine.
"K," by Mary R. Rinehart—The story of a brilliant young surgeon who, because of a disastrous error in his work, gives up his profession. Another surgeon and two nurses are featured prominently in the tale. The setting and atmosphere are medical and hospital.
Telephone Renewals
Any book subject to renewal may be renewed by telephone. However, it is very necessary that the following information be given in full:

1. Date on which the book is due.
2. Author and title of the book.

Of course it is understood that the usual rules with regard to renewals of new books hold true and that books may not be renewed more than once.

Origin Or Words
Have you ever wondered where our words come from? Back of almost every word in the English language there is a "life story" that will come to the average reader as a fascinating revelation. Our words have come to us from sources and in ways that will prove most surprising to anyone who has not yet discovered the delights of tracing words back to their origins. Pictorial Word Origins from Webster's New International Dictionary may open for you a new world of entertainment and information. Not only do these word stories make the most interesting reading, but they will give you an understanding of the background and essential meanings of words that will greatly increase your knowledge of the language and the proper use of words. Forty-five illustrative drawings help to explain the meanings of the words.

At The Fair

(By John Steele)
As the weeks roll by Chicago's World's Fair is rolling up successes and triumphs never before imagined. The people are appreciating more and more the privilege of attending such a free college, amusement park, and laboratory as the Fair provides.

Our home state has one of the finest exhibits of all. I know you have all seen the Illinois Host House with its wonderful Lincolniana collection, but have you seen our exhibit in the hall of states?

In the Hall of States we have a very fine table map of the University of Illinois. Also a very large and interesting collection of graphs, pictures, and reading material covering the treatment of delinquents and the insane. In one place we see the old repressive chains and boxes used in bygone times to repress demented people, and in the next case we see the work done by people of the same condition in modern hospitals.

On July 4th a huge program will be offered to Fair visitors. A colorful parade will be held in the morning, and in the evening a program will be seen from the floating theatre in the lagoon. A pageant entitled "The Progress of a Nation" will be given.

Television has at last found its way to the Fair. A complete transmitting and receiving outfit has been installed in the Electrical Building. Shows are given every half hour and are open to the public.

The Wisconsin exhibit in the Hall of States is a very beautiful one. The only trouble with it, say the managers, is that people come in there on hot days and like the cool air and fresh smell of pine needles that they linger for a long time. The exhibit shows a portion of Wisconsin woods, abundant with game and all wild life. Along the walls we see tanks with various kinds of game fish swimming to and fro.

In one of these tanks a large "muskie" is stationed. We have seen many an ardent fisherman stand before this tank looking wistfully and wide-eyed at the "big one." Undoubtedly it is the one he just missed last summer, but the old "muskie" just seems to give them the old horse—I mean fish—laugh.

Outside the gates of the Fair grounds many important things are taking place. At the Municipal Airport on July 1, 2, 3, and 4, the American Air Races will be held with many of the nation's foremost pilots competing. In the realm of sports there is the National A. A. U. Track and Field meet opening today. Also there will be a ball game between stars of the American and National League given on July 6 at Comiskey Park.

For the more aesthetic of you there is the flower show in the many gardens of Northerly Island. Here everything from violets to roses are shown.

I won't commit myself by judging the Streets of Paris, but there is a very interesting exhibition of diving given twice daily by Jane Faunt, Wally Colbath, and other champs.

Many, many groups are holding conventions in Chicago this year because of the Fair, and daily you can see innumerable badges being worn on the Fair grounds by these conventioners. I bet they don't get as much work done as they would like to. There is so much to detract these gentlemen.

other day in the Hall of Science. I came across the robot man who gives talks on the digestive system. Well, right across the stomach was a glaring sign saying, "Out of Order." He should remember to stick to the orange drink, and not to mix it with coca colas and hot dogs.

Now that the Fair is sure to be a success, royalty from all over the world are making plans to shuffle off to Chicago.

Night life at the Fair is plenty gay, say a number of the Highland Park younger set. They should know. See you at the Fair.

We read somewhere that a pedestrian is a man who has failed to keep up the payments on his car.—Cordell (Okla.) Beacon.

Bus Tours To World's Fair To Be Continued

Miss Helen Boyce, who has assisted with the tours from the YWCA, will continue to conduct tours to A Century of Progress beginning on Thursday, July 5.

Children's tours will be taken every Friday to take advantage of the special features arranged for children on that day. Children may go in the mixed groups if they desire. One chaperon will be provided for every group of twelve children.

These tours offer excellent opportunity to get a general idea of the whole Fair without wasting time and energy, and to go easily and comfortably from Highland Park in a bus.

In addition to the Friday tours, adult mixed groups will be taken on the following days: July 6, 12, 13, 19, 20, 26, 27. Arrangements may be made for groups wishing to go on other days.

Information may be secured by calling H. P. 3175 and reservations may be made at 352 Central avenue.

Fire Department Is Called To Five Blazes

Defective wiring started a blaze in the home of G. J. Bassler, 1018 Oak street, shortly before 5 o'clock last Friday afternoon. The damage was held to a minimum by the work of the Highland Park fire department. The house, recently purchased from John L. Udel, was being redecorated at the time the blaze started.

The fire department answered four other calls during the past week. Two were grass fires, one an automobile fire, and on Saturday morning at 11:15 the department was called to 1331 South Green Bay Road, to the residence of Maurice DeBona. Boys playing with matches had started a fire in the garage.

Benjamin Buckingham Dies In the East In Fall From Hotel Room

Benjamin J. Buckingham, of 2207 Dell Lane, in Highland Park, fell from a fourth story window of a hotel in Cambridge, Mass., last Saturday, and was killed.

Mr. and Mrs. Buckingham had gone east to attend the graduation exercises at Harvard University. Their son, Bryant Buckingham, was a member of the graduating class.

Mr. Buckingham was an officer and a stockholder in the Upholstery Products Company in Chicago. He retired in January, because of ill health. He was also a member of the Chicago law firm of Buckingham and Bresini.

Mr. Buckingham was born in Lincoln, Ill., in 1869, and came to Chicago at the age of 12 with his parents. He went to work at the age of 15 in California, taking the position of bookkeeper. He helped care for his parents and sisters in Chicago. He stayed in California five years.

Coming back to Chicago, he was employed by the Link Belt Machinery Company, putting himself thru law school and graduating with high honors, being second in his class.

Later he formed his own company, known as Buckingham Brothers, wholesale garment manufacturers.

He developed an inventive ability early in life and many of his inventions are in use in various parts of the world.

Mr. and Mrs. Buckingham moved to Ravinia in 1926, and bought a home there four years ago. Mrs. Buckingham and the son, Bryant, are the survivors.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Boydston's Chapel in Chicago. Burial was in Oakwood Cemetery.

VOLUME XXII
APPROPRIATION BUDGETS $

Highland Park's Expense Fiscal Year Slightly Lower

The annual appropriation the City of Highland Park fiscal year May 1, 1933, to 1934, has been passed by council, and sets the city's for the year at $463,977.8 decrease over last year.

The tax levy for Highland has not been drawn up. It is important for it to be the size of the tax bills of this city. It is not how much of the total for the year will be from taxes, and how much from other sources of revenue, appropriation must be made as all departments of the government are operated on and every dollar spent must be previously appropriated to be used.

By departments, the expense of the city government for the fiscal year will be as follows:

Department of Public Safety, $58,612.00. (Including the yearly salary of $1080, said four commissioners, total city clerk's annual salary, corporation counsel's year of $4500, wages of a dog $500, salary of the marshal of police) $2970, salary of nurse $1620.)

Department of Accounts, $6120. (Including city treasurer $1080, and city collector $3240.)

Department of Public Health, $41,726. (Including chief fire marshal, $2970; of assistants and firemen $2400 to $1782 per year.)

Water Department, $69, including salary of superintendent $4500; electric current, $14; improvement of pumping grounds, $2200; locating, pairing of leaks, $3000; other $2800.)

Department of Streets and Public Improvements, $36,825. (Including labor and material for improved roads, $23,000; snow, $2000.)

Department of Public Works, $27,735. (Including general lighting, electric current, salary of building inspector, miscellaneous appropriation 700.)

Collection of taxes, $9500. Acquisition of Permanent Ert, $3950.

Street Widening Bond Expense, $5000.

Sewer Bond Proceeds $7000.

For Opening and Widening Streets, $45,000. (For acquisition of right of way by purchase, condemnation for opening, extension widening Skokie Valley Road, Highland Park and other including court costs and other necessary expenses thereof.)

Bonded Indebtedness, $42,000. (For payment of maturing $27,000; interest on bonded indebtedness, $25,038.60.)

Emergency and Contingent Liability, Fire and Auto Insurance, $1500.

Library, $30,000.

Water Revenue-Bonded Indebtedness, $67,419.22. (For payment of maturing water revenue bonds $600; for the payment of bonds on water revenue bonds, $37,419.22.)

WORTH WHILE THOUGH

Every town has its leader. Always a leader is one who actively promotes a good act, influencing others to do the same, whether in social life, politics, church, lodge, business, or home life.

Many women are wonderful homemakers regardless of how much they have to spend. They are the most important kind of leaders in the world—and there are a great many of them in our town around Highland Park.

How to make their leadership a bigger influence on our town is important.

If we could somehow arrange for them to tell some of their good ideas to others—as through the columns of this paper—it would be sure to have what we think we have anyway: a champion homemaker here in any other town of our size in the country.
