Only two games were played in the Community Twilight Indoor League last week, the third game being postponed due to a rainstorm causing wet grounds.

On Monday evening, Bock's Services chalked up their seventh victory consecutively by beating the Swanson Plumbers 11-3. Bock's led throughout the game, and the outcome was never in doubt. Witt and Art Bock did the hurling for the Service station team, while Pete Jaeger was on the mound for the Plumbers.

In the other game played, the News Flashes took the measure of the D-X Service Station nine by a 4-2 score. The game was close throughout, neither team getting many hits because of the pitching of Hammond of the Flashes and Klein of the D-Xers.

The Cosmopolitan Opera Company, Inc., of Chicago, will give three performances of grand opera in the auditorium of the Deerfield-Shields High School in Highland Park. This company will offer performances quite the equal of any to which the patrons of the North Shore are accustomed.

The orchestra and chorus are recruited entirely from the Chicago Civic Opera Company. Detailed information as to the opening date will be given later.

Local Social Service Explains Unemployment Relief Program Here

"There seems to have been some misconceptions and misunderstandings of the way the Social Service is handling unemployment relief at the present time. In an effort to clarify the situation, the following explanation is tendered by the publicity chairman of the Work Relief Committee," says an officer of the organization. The report follows.

"The Social Service, in the early part of May, realizing that local funds for relief were all but exhausted, applied to the state for assistance. Upon investigation this application was granted, and a Work Committee was called together to meet a representative of the State Unemployment Relief, who explained that the funds available were not to be given out as doles, but only for pay for work done.

Any civic organization could outline a work project, and on its approval by the state, could start a revolving fund to pay for the labor, with their own money. This money would be refunded by the state within two weeks of submission of the first payroll, thus starting a continuous rotation of funds. It was emphasized that the projects must be of civic character, on public property, and that the funds were applicable for labor only.

"This arrangement was held up during the month of June because of shortage of funds by the state. Now that the two per cent state tax law has passed, the funds for unemployment are again available.

"There has been some hesitancy on the part of city organizations to take advantage of this state aid, and they need to be encouraged to create projects, by a strong public opinion. This will be forthcoming when the public realizes that the result of this unemployment relief is threefold: it creates work for the unemployed, it relieves local residents of the responsibility of raising funds, except where materials are needed, and it is an opportunity to get the city in good physical condition, as well as a chance to add to its attractiveness. School boards, park board, city departments, mosquito abatement, sewage disposal, all these groups are eligible for this paid labor.

"The Work Committee, whose job it is to pass on the projects before they are presented to the state, is constituted as follows:

"Mayor Emil B. Metzger, Commissioners: Gourley, Greenslade, and Taylor; Clarence Witt, E. J. Brown, Mrs. D. Klaber, J. L. Smith, J. S. VanBergen, A. Abercromby, P. Carani, P. E. Cole, H. A. Hansen, J. S. Walker, Carl Grant; Mayor Egidio Moccogni, Guy Viti, C. Svendsen, Charles Fiore, W. Steele, Albert Olsen, W. Brown, I. J. Lee, Roland Stanley, N. Wiedel."

Volley Ball Meeting To Be Held Here Friday

The North Shore Gas Company Tells How To Estimate Fuel Costs

"During the past few months we have all heard a lot of discussion about 3.2 percent and 4 percent. The fact was that people were not interested in knowing the total volume they bought, but the percentage. Curiously enough before prohibition people did not ask such questions and most of them were entirely oblivious to the fact that they might be consuming 3 percent when they could possibly have gotten 5 percent at the same cost," says a release from the North Shore Gas Company.

"Using fuel for heating purposes is a quite similar case. Unless they have read how engineers measure heat most people will go along buying heat on a basis of the volume of fuel used in tons, or gallons, or cubic feet. The way engineers buy heat is in terms of B.T.U.'s (British Thermal Units). Any other method would be inaccurate and make it impossible to judge between the value of fuel offered for sale.

"Knowledge of what the B.T.U. means will enable any householder to know just what value he is getting for his money. For example, the gas sold in this territory is measured in thousands of cubic feet. This, in itself, does not tell you how much heat the gas contains. However, by asking the gas company, it will be found that each cubic foot of this gas contains a given number of B.T.U.'s. The minimum number is set by law.

"The next thing is to understand just what the B.T.U. is. This is really very simple—it is the amount of heat needed to raise the temperature of a pound of water one degree F. Thus, if a cubic foot of gas contains 560 B.T.U.'s, this is the same number of B.T.U.'s that is needed to raise the temperature of five pounds of water from 50 degrees to 162 degrees F. To give you an idea of how this heat is translated in terms of cost, the gas company points out that one dollar's worth of gas is enough to deliver 3200 pounds of hot water at the faucet.

"In all cases it should be remembered that from the standpoint of heat, the only part of the fuel that actually burns is the gaseous material. With the exception of gas, all of the other fuels have to go through a process of conversion into gas before they will burn. In the case of gas, this conversion is done on a mass production scale at the gas plant where the efficiency is high. By this method, all waste products such as ashes and smoke are taken out before the gas is sold for fuel. Where the householder assumes the task of removing the ashes and smoke from the gaseous material which actually burns, the efficiency of the domestic furnace or stove may be considerably lower."

Mr. Chalmers Conducts Moonlight Ride Tuesday

As a climax to the big Fourth of July celebration at the Black Heath Golf Club, Thomas Chalmers of the Glencoe Riding School, who also maintains a stable on the grounds of the Black Heath Club, staged a moonlight horseback ride.

About eighteen people attended the ride, who were very much pleased with this new idea of riding in the cool of the evening over the moon-lit path. Mr. Chalmers has promised to conduct moonlight rides at least twice a week from now on.
