Many Golfers Start the Season at the Sunset Valley Club

In spite of the chilly winds this past week-end over one hundred golfers opened up the season at the Sunset Valley golf club.

Tom Kelly, professional at the club, said that a great many of those playing were new members who are taking advantage of the low yearly playing fee which was announced recently. Even at this early date practically all of last year's members have taken out playing memberships for the coming season and it is expected that the list of new members will be larger this year, than any in the past five years.

The Sunset Valley Golf club offers more real golf for the money than any club in this vicinity and residents of Highland Park and other nearby suburbs are welcome to play at all times.

If you are interested in golf, phone or write the club and they will be glad to mail you a booklet describing the club and the activities of the summer, as well as the fees for daily or seasonal play.

"Nine Until Six" to Be Given on May 20

On the afternoon and evening of May 20 "The Mimes" of the Highland Park Woman's Club will present the English comedy "Nine Until Six," written by Philip Stuart. Edward J. Crowley, director, had the privilege of seeing the play with the original cast in London about two years ago, so it promises to be a finished production when presented here in Highland Park.

After a full season's run in London, "Nine Until Six" was brought to New York where it again enjoyed great popularity. The play is one of the very few for an all-woman's cast and is composed of sixteen characters. The plot is most intriguing and holds keen interest in the happenings of one day in a London dressmaking shop. Although men do not actually appear in the play they figure most highly in the lives of the characters so that the story holds great interest for men as well as women.

Save the date, May 20, to all the happenings of one day in a London dressmaking establishment from "Nine Until Six."

Public May Visit the Hospital on May 12

The people of this community may avail themselves of the opportunity to visit the Highland Park Hospital on May 12, which is National Hospital Day.

Just a year ago the D. A. R. planted a Norway spruce at the hospital in commemoration of George Washington, one of the foremost enthusiastic workers for the development of hospitals in America.

On National Hospital Day the building will be open to the people of this city that they may further familiarize themselves with its workings. Solicitations and donations are expressly forbidden but the presence of the public is urgently invited.

Production of Ravinia Players a "Sell-Out" On Last Friday Night

(By Fritz Block)

The Ravinia Players' most auspicious production, from the standpoint of the box office, was the production of "A Pair of Silk Stockings" at the Ravinia Village House last Friday. A sold-out house and an enthusiastic audience welcomed the players' offering.

To judge a non-professional group by professional standards is, of course, unfair. Taken in the proper light "A Pair of Silk Stockings" was all that it should be, an intelligent effort by earnest players to provide amusement.

The author of this farce comedy is Cyril Hareourt. I am told that this play enjoyed considerable vogue in England some years ago. At that time it was perhaps considered rather "daring" but in light of the present day sophistication it is quite mild. The first act, in fact, is exceedingly dull, but after that the play picks up in interest and tempo right up to the hilarious finish.

Some of the players were excellent, others "fair to middling," a condition which of course obtains in every non-professional group. The two leading roles were well handled by Ted Osborn and Enid Phillips who put over their parts with enthusiasm and skill. Playing a "character" role, far above her years, Gertrude Williams, as the putulant dowager, exhibited unusual talent and professional ability, and won well deserved applause. Edward Smith elicited much laughter by his brief appearance as a tramp. Ross Hichman, in his first appearance on the stage, handled a leading role expertly, well aided by Mary Lou McClernan, Laura Browning, William Stieglitz, and Tevis Gibson. Lack of space prohibits further individual mention.

Guernsey LeFolley handled the stage direction which went quite smoothly in the last two acts. The first act was rather static, partly the fault of the author. All in all "A Pair of Silk Stockings" showed the effort put into it.

Neighborhood theatricals have a definite value and place in a community and the Ravinia Players are to be congratulated, on the way they have carried on, frequently in the face of serious obstacles. May they continue!

Woman's Club Will Present Gift to the Public Library Here

The Community Garden class of the Highland Park Woman's Club will present a stone bird bath to the Highland Park Public Library on Saturday afternoon, April 15, at 3 o'clock. The stone bath, which is located just south of the library at the head of the ravine which starts there, was designed by Jens Jensen, who also gave his time and services in superintending the landscaping of the grounds. The work of building the bird bath with the water connection was done last fall, but the grading and planting of the trees, shrubs and wild flowers has just been completed.

An interesting program has been arranged. Mrs. Ernest Reed, chairman of the Community Garden class, will present the bird bath to the library, which will be represented by J. B. Garnett, president of the library board. Mr. Jensen will also appear on the program. A cordial invitation is extended to all garden and bird lovers to attend the presentation.

Firemen Put Out Two House Blazes Here, No Damage Resulting

Blazes starting in two Highland Park residences during the past week were promptly extinguished by the Highland Park fire department, and little or no damage resulted in both cases.

A defective chimney started a fire at the residence of Frank Reuthmann, 630 Woodpath Avenue, at 7:30 Friday morning, and the blaze was put under control as soon as the department arrived.

The firemen were called at 11:15 Sunday morning to the residence of F. W. Russo, at 734 Central Avenue, owned by William Witzon, where a fire had started in rubbish in a coal bin. This blaze was put out promptly.

Chamber of Commerce Favors Sale of Beer In Highland Park

After a lengthy discussion and deliberation at the meeting of the Highland Park chamber of commerce Tuesday night at the Green Tea Pot, the members adopted a resolution expressing the unanimous approval of the legal sale of 3.2 per cent beer in Highland Park, asking the city council for proper regulations so that beer may be sold by the Highland Park merchants. A committee consisting of Howard Moran, Francis Rapp and William Dooley will convey this resolution to the city council.

George W. Gaidzik, promotional manager of the Grunow Electric Refrigerating Company, was the speaker of the evening, and the title of his talk was "The Three Lessons," an inspirational and interesting message. Mr. Gaidzik is well known as a national champion in diving, swimming and water polo. He held the world's amateur high diving championship in 1913.

Taxpayers Party In Highwood Holds Open Meetings This Week

The People's Taxpayer's Party, one of the four tickets in the Highwood election which will be held next Tuesday, makes the following appeal to the voters of Highwood: "The People's Taxpayers' Party appeals to the voters to cast their ballots next Tuesday, April 18, for the candidates whom they think best qualified and render justice to the entire community and bring the city of Highwood at par (if not better) to any and all other towns on the North Shore. The candidates of the People's Taxpayers ticket are men selected from this community, men of outstanding character, ability and integrity, men whom are seeking offices only from the standpoint of giving citizens of Highwood that long-sought-for efficient administration which said candidates pledge themselves.

"Sam Santi, candidate for mayor in the above mentioned ticket, is one of the oldest and most prominent business men of Highwood. His ability for administration is unquestionable. He is well known throughout Lake county and in many parts of the state, and if elected, the citizens of Highwood can be proud of having elected a man that can stand before any outstanding personality."

Another group of perhaps 300 men are expected at Fort Sheridan today, and every day until an estimated 4600 from Illinois and Wisconsin will have been received and conditioned for the "battle against unemployment."

"The young men who arrived at the post Tuesday were unusually fine boys," Gen. Bolles said yesterday. "Our aim is to conduct the conditioning along the lines valuable to them in their future work, with a view to keeping their bodies physically fit and their mental attitudes right."

Young French Political Writer Will Speak At Ravinia Forum Meeting

"Franco-American Relations and the Outlook for Disarmament" will be the theme of the next meeting of the Ravinia Forum, the seventh of the lecture series, to be held in the Ravinia Village House, on Friday evening of this week, April 14, at 8 o'clock.

M. Pierre de Lanux, a young French political writer and head of the Paris office of the League of Nations, will be the speaker. M. de Lanux, who has been on a lecture tour in this country during the past two months, has spoken before the councils on foreign relations in a number of cities, including Chicago, and before several of the larger American universities. He is now on his return to New York, whence he will sail next week for Paris to take up his work there. A student of international law and a contributing editor of a liberal French newspaper, he has had a wide experience in international affairs both as a member of the staff of League of Nations, in Geneva, and as a journalist and traveler. He speaks fluent English and is an outspoken advocate of disarmament as a means of preserving European civilization from the horrors of another war, and rescuing the world from its present economic catastrophe which he holds to be the direct result of the last war, and the continuing costs of war.

The Ravinia Forum committee considers itself fortunate to be able to bring M. de Lanux to this community, and invites residents of Highland Park and Ravinia to attend this meeting.—Contributed

BEER IS STILL "UP IN THE AIR" HERE

City's Officials Interpret the Charter As Prohibiting Sale of Beverage

Following a week of controversy, and several arrests, over the question of the legality of selling the new "non-intoxicating" 3.2 per cent beer in Highland Park, local residents who want it are having their beverage, but are buying it elsewhere. Beer may be delivered to Highland Park homes by "outside" firms, but may not be sold, legally, in this city.

The arrests were made late last week by the Highland Park police department, under order of Mayor E. B. Metzler and at the advice of Ernest Gail, corporation counsel, who interpret the city charter and ordinances of Highland Park as preventing the sale of the new beverage here, regardless of the fact that it has been declared "non-intoxicating" by state and national authorities.

It is the view of Mayor Metzler and Mr. Gail that the administrative officers of Highland Park, the city commissioners, will have to request permission from the state of Illinois for a change in the city charter, if beer is to be sold here legally, for this city operates under

Lions Club Inspects Nash Motor Plants At Racine, Kenosha

Last Thursday, A. G. Nichols, sales manager for A. G. MacPherson, local Nash distributor, played host to the Highland Park Lions Club by taking the group through the Nash plants at Racine and Kenosha.

Each operation was explained by the factory superintendent. The stamping out of connecting rods seemed to fascinate the group most because of its simplicity. Dr. L. C. Schur thought that "would make a good arrangement to make inlays." However, the line of production moved forward till the car was assembled and tested. In each operation, there was never a lost motion or an unnecessary move—efficiency to the "nth degree." Incidentally, Nash was one of the few motor car manufacturers that made a profit last year.

This is one of the many trips planned by the club to acquaint its members with the vast amount of interest at our very door steps. In the near future, the club will journey to the World's Fair Grounds, as Guests of the Chicago Lions.

Ideal Party Charges Whispering Campaign In Highwood's Race

Charging a "whispering campaign" during the closing days of an exciting campaign preceding the city election in Highwood next Tuesday, the Ideal Party, one of the four entered in the race, explains its stand in city affairs and problems in a statement to the Highland Park Press this week.

The statement of the Ideal Party is as follows:

"There is at present a whispering campaign being sponsored in Highwood by one of the tickets in the race for election, to the effect that a well will be constructed to be owned and operated by the city, at no cost to the taxpayers, and to greatly reduce the price of water to the consumer. This report is being circulated by a party that either doesn't know the facts of a previous survey regarding a well, or they are trying to foster on the public one of the greatest hoaxes ever presented to the citizens of Highwood.

"It is a matter of public record that a thorough survey was made of the land under our city by a competent engineering concern, and facts and figures for the cost of a well sufficient to supply our needs with reservoirs above and under ground, were submitted by specialists on well construction, who are foremost in their line in the country.

"The entire proposition was investigated by the city council and the idea of a well for Highwood was discarded due to the fact that it
