Apology

Owing to an unfortunate error in our mechanical department, meat advertisements for the A&P Stores appearing in this publication recently, contained prices which were incorrect.

As a result, many of our readers appeared at the A&P stores to buy certain cuts of meat at prices lower than the stores were charging, resulting in embarrassment for the clerks and managers of the stores.

The mistake was entirely that of this newspaper, and we make this explanation so that our readers will not censure the A&P stores in this territory.
