master, and the Rev. Gardner A. MacWhorter, '08, formerly of St. Luke's Episcopal Church, Evanston, welcomed the faculty, the returning old boys and the new boys at the exercises.

With the opening of school this year the Academy's extensive curriculum will be further broadened by the inclusion of eighth grade subjects. This new "form," to be known as the "Lower First Class," will admit boys who have finished the seventh grade. It will be operated as a component part of the school and its members will enjoy all of the advantages experienced by their secondary schoolmates at the Academy under the "Richards Plan" of extended class-study periods, staggering and rotating schedules and self-responsible periods.

Invitation Extended to John Drum, Bugle Corps

An invitation to join its junior drum and bugle corps is extended to all boys living in Highland Park, Highwood and vicinity, by the Stupey Smith Post of the American Legion.

Instruction is given the boys three times a week with the noted Sergeant Meyers of Fort Sheridan in charge. Sgt. Meyers needs no introduction to those interested in drum and bugle corps and his leadership assures the boys of the very best instruction to become proficient in their chosen instruments.

Boys need not refrain from joining because of the lack of bugles or drums, say the managers, as all members are furnished instruments by the Legion Post. Information as to positions open, nights of instruction, and other matters, may be obtained from Harvey Rieber, H. P. 656, or Ben Stiever at H. P. 1598.

The first public appearance of the corps will take place at the Armistice Day ceremonies of the Stupey-Smith Post at Oak Terrace School Nov. 11.

Drum, Bugle Corps of Local American Legion Participates in Parade

The Drum and Bugle Corps of Dumaresq Spencer Post of the American Legion represented Highland Park in the greatest parade of all time, the parade of the National Convention at Chicago on Tuesday. The corps were outfitted complete with new uniforms, the result of several years of constant endeavor by the members to build up a unit which could "go out and parade in any man's town without being ashamed of either their playing or their manner of drilling."

The Armistice Day Ball, which is an annual affair conducted by the local Legion Post to raise funds for their share in the charity work of the community, will be held the evening of Nov. 11 at the Highland Park Women's Club. Music for the occasion will be furnished by Hy Nelson's Ambassador orchestra which plays in the soft and subtle manner of Wayne King. As added attractions to the non-dancing folk, there will be games, feature acts, and the giving away of a complete house and lot in some novel and distinctive manner, the nature of which has not as yet been made public.

The next regular meeting of the post will be Thursday at 8 p.m. Oct. 5, at their headquarters at 21 North Sheridan road. The new commander, Harold Bridges, is planning a surprise for this meeting, so turn out and see what he has in store.

Local Pharmacy Will Occupy Larger Room

The Highland Park Pharmacy is taking over the space and most of the equipment of the Howard-Udell Cafeteria, in the Udell building on Central Avenue, and will occupy the location in about a month, after extensive rearrangement of equipment and redecoration of the room. This change is made necessary by the expanding business of the drug company.

The Highland Park Pharmacy, at present occupying space in the same building, will carry on a general drug, lunch and fountain business in its larger quarters.

Mrs. Laura Howard and Paul L. Udell, proprietors of the Howard-Udell Cafeteria, wish to thank the people of Highland Park for their patronage during the past years.

The cafeteria will be closed for about a month, during the time the new location is being made ready for the pharmacy.

She plays a perfect hand at bridge—and she's equally good at changing a headlamp

Who'd ever think, watching Mrs. Allen take the last trick in a difficult slam, that she was just as expert at taking care of the family car?

She's no mechanic either. No, but she's discovered a secret—that all you have to know about servicing a car is the address of the nearest Standard Station. She brings the car in and Cheerful Stan does the rest. If a headlamp needs changing he changes it. If anything else needs doing he does it.

It's a much better plan, too, than letting Mr. Allen take the car downtown for service, thus leaving the family without transportation for the day. Or letting him do it in the evening when the time could much better be spent some other way.

The next time your husband says, "Yes, darling, I'd like to go out this evening, but we can't because I've got to take the car out to have it greased," why don't you take the job off his hands? With Cheerful Stan's help you can do it quite as well as he can.
